CONCESSIONS ARE MADE BY AUSTRIA

Will Support Germany in New Submarine Warfare But Will Endeavor to Prevent Breach in Diplomatic Relations With United States.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, March 6.—Austria will support Germany in her new submarine warfare but will make certain concessions designed to prevent a breach of diplomatic relations with the United States.

This was the interpretation placed here today on cabled summaries of the Austrian reply to President Wilson's note received from Vienna.

The Austrian reply has been handed to Ambassador Penfield at Vienna and is being forwarded to Washington. According to press versions Austria warns Americans and other neutrals not to take passage on belligerent ships entering the war zone, but by inference makes it plain that she does not intend to sink neutral ships without warning.

The Austrian note is in answer to a communication sent by the United States on February 18, asking for a statement of the Austrian government's position, in view of Germany's change in submarine policy and declaration of ruthless submarine warfare.

President Wilson asked if the pledge given by Austria following the Ancona sinking was to be withdrawn.

Austria places blame for the adoption of a new submarine policy by the Central Powers upon the Allies, particularly upon Great Britain. Britain is charged with having cast aside the Declaration of London, embodying certain international agreements with reference to sea war, thus paving the way for a new set of rules regarding modern warfare on the seas.

The Austrian government contends that neutrals, in wartime, may enjoy the freedom of the seas only when traveling upon neutral vessels. Austria further declares that the rights of belligerents must predominate and that if belligerents warn neutrals of their intention to pursue a certain war policy toward another group of belligerents, it is the duty of the neutrals to take measures to avoid conflict with that policy.

Washington, March 6.—Advice from Vienna that Austria at last has handed to Ambassador Penfield her reply outlining her position on ruthless submarine warfare has pleased officials here who have been growing restless under the delay. It is not likely that the reply will reach here before late tomorrow or Thursday. In advance of the receipt of the complete text no administration official would comment on the possible attitude of this government.

It is not expected that the president will consent to "haggle" with Austria over the submarine situation. This government has asked squarely whether the pledges given in the Ancona case have been withdrawn. If Austria says that this is so and that she endorses the German plan of creating a zone within which merchant vessels are to be torpedoes without warning, then the president, in order to be consistent must recall Ambassador Penfield, officials point out.

If, however, Austria makes it plain that her submarines are under orders to observe the requirements of international law, then further discussion will take place and Ambassador Tarnowski will be permitted to present his credentials.

The Austrian embassy this morning was without any word from Vienna regarding the Austrian answer, officials said.

SUBMARINES ARE BEING REFITTED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, March 6.—Practically all the German submarines that left ports when the ruthless warfare was decided upon have now returned to their bases to be overhauled and supplied with more torpedoes.

Dispatches from Berlin today brought this news and explained why but few sinkings have been reported in the last week. A new fleet, it was said, will leave German harbors the latter part of this week in a fresh campaign against merchantmen entering the barred zone.

Despite rumors from London that one or more of the U-boats have been captured or destroyed since the new German submarine policy went into effect, Berlin dispatches today asserted that every submarine that started out when the new warfare was decreed, has returned in safety.

Several of the U-boats reported sharp clashes with British patrol boats and destroyers, Berlin reported, but they escaped practically unhurt. The German Admiralty is preparing a statement of the sinkings of hostile merchantmen which will be completed when all the U-boats have reported.

Shot to Settle Taxi Bill.

Frank Moravich of New Windsor, is under arrest in Beacon for attempting to settle a taxi cab bill of $5 with a 45 calibre revolver. After hitting the chauffeur, Martin Petre, Moravich is alleged to have fired a shot after the cab from his small cannon.

RUTHLESS WARFARE BY MANAGER COHEN

Theater Manager Stands for Clean Shows Only as Shown by Experience of "Midnight Maidens" Whose Lines Were Censored of Suggestive Material.

George Cohen, who conducts theaters at Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Beacon and who is at the head of the movement to build a new theater on Wall street, this city, is a strict censor of shows that appear in his theaters, according to a story published several days ago in the Newburgh Journal, which says:

George Cohen censored the "Midnight Maidens" when they made their appearance last August at the Cohen Opera House on Broadway. As in his custom he had a rehearsal of the parts, and when they were given he ruthlessly eliminated a lot of the stuff the maidens were anxious to present the show-goers with, and by the time the censorship had been completed there wasn't enough of the original play left for the maidens to tie their lingerie to. As a result the manager didn't take to it kindly, and when Mr. Cohen told him "the same rule affected the presentation in the Cohen theater at Poughkeepsie, Gus Hill, the producer of the midnight affair, declined to present such a ragged skit. Now Gus has sued Mr. Cohen for the amount he would have received had the play been presented the requisite number of nights. Mr. Cohen says he will fight it to the end.

When the public meeting was held in the city council room two weeks ago, to consider the question of the censorship of the plays and pictures to be presented, Mr. Cohen stated there was no necessity for censoring plays or pictures that came to his house, as he personally looked after one feature of every production and Mrs. Cohen looked after another, the two giving the plays and pictures a closer scrutiny than persons who might be designated by the city possibly could do. The outcome in the Gus Hill case shows that he trimmed up one show in a style that the management was far from gratified with.

George Martin, local manager for Mr. Cohen, said he had learned that Mr. Cohen had said yesterday "the show was of such a character that I would not permit it to be staged in my house. I censored the entire production and insisted that several whole scenes be eliminated on account of smutty and suggestive parts. I naturally refused to pay the entire contract price for the show, as it was not the kind of a production I had contracted for.

"At the close of the contract here I notified the producing company which had booked the show for me as to the nature of the burlesque, and that the company notified Mr. Hill at that time that he would either have to clean up his show or his entire season's contract would be cancelled.

"I am striving to put on clean shows, and I am going to fight this case, even if it costs me more than the amount involved. I am going to find out from the courts if the producer has a right to put any kind of a show on the boards and the manager of the house has nothing to say about the nature of the production.

"And so far as I am personally concerned," continued Mr. Martin, "you may add that I am in complete accord with the views taken by Mr. Cohen. If a play is not what it ought to be, it will not be put on the boards of the Cohen theater in Newburgh. While censorship is unnecessary, so far as our productions are concerned, we have no fear about the closest investigation and most thorough criticism."

TOTAL HARVEST 623,978 TONS.

Burns Brothers Corporation Finish Ice Cutting.

With a total tonnage of 623,978 tons cut, hoisted and housed, Burns Brothers' Ice Corporation have about completed their ice harvesting for the season of 1917. They have a small quantity of ice to harvest at the Norton house on Green Island, possibly 5,000 tons, which will depend upon weather conditions. The company had on hand when the season started about 35,000 tons. With the big crop harvested they are well pleased with results. It has been one of the greatest seasons for the ice men in many years despite the scarcity and high cost of labor. The weather has been steady almost from start to finish and the grade of ice is A-1. There are but few houses along the river which have not been filled.

Entertainment at South Rondout.

Friday evening, March 16, at the South Rondout M. E. Church, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, a St. Patrick's Day entertainment will be given. One of the attractions will be impersonations of Harry Lauder by Mr. Tinnie of Port Ewen. A good evening's pleasure is assured all who come. A small admission will be charged and ice cream will be sold after the entertainment.

Trinity Ladies' Aid.

The Ladies' Society of the Trinity M. E. Church will hold its annual meeting at the church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. As officers will be elected and other important matters come up for consideration, a full attendance is desirable.

The board then adjourned.

At the Hospitals.

Terrance Rooney of No. 9 DuBois street was conveyed in the city ambulance to the Benedictine Sanitarium on Monday.

Paul Nelson was conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital from 23 St. James street in the city ambulance on Monday.

CITY HOME IN NEED OF A COOK

"Gene" Harris, Who Has Been Cook For 19 Years, Forced to Retire by Ill Health—Charity Commissioners Audit Over $11,000 in Bills.

Eugene A. Harris, better known to his friends as Gene, who for nineteen years has presided over the destinies of the kitchen at the City Home, has at last been forced to retire owing to ill health. Mr. Harris will be greatly missed at the institution, said Superintendent Edmonston Monday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Charity Commissioners held at the city hall, and he paid Mr. Harris the highest compliment one man can pay another when he said "Gene is not only a first class cook, but he is an honest man."

Mr. Harris started to work at the institution when it was known as the alms house and continued at work when the institution was dignified by its present title of City Home. Administrations may come and administrations may go but it made no difference in regard to Gene's job, for every one realized he was a good man and it would be hard work to get another man to fill his place in the kitchen.

Superintendent Edmonston said that Mr. Harris while not in the best of health informed him he would work as long as possible in order that a good man might be secured for the job. Mr. Harris's health is such that he is finding it impossible to fulfill the arduous duties of cook at the institution. The job has been paying $45 a month and board.

President Waterbury presided at the meeting. Monday evening with Commissioners Fischer, Lang Stock, Kellerman and Davis, and Superintendent Edmonston present.

The most important business transacted at the meeting was the auditing of bills of the local merchants totalling $11,293.32, which will be paid as soon as the warrants are drawn.

Several routine matters were discussed and the reports of Secretary Edmonston as found below were adopted. They read as follows:

Secretary's Report.

Superintendent Edmonston, who is secretary of the board, submitted the following reports:

Balance in bank Feb. 7. $ 79

Deposited by supt. with city treasurer 111.85

Placed in bank by city treasurer March 5 12,000.00

Amount of bills audited. 11,293.32

Balance in bank 819.32

There are 57 inmates at the City Home of which number 40 are male and 17 female.

The Kingston City Hospital report for February showed 29 cases with 269 days' treatment.

Outdoor Relief.

The amount of groceries and provisions given from City Home by wards during February follows:

Family in Port Ewen 207.44

Groceries and provisions given for work at City Home amounted to $24.16 as follows:

Third ward 18.05

Fourth ward 3.15

Fifth ward 2.27

HOW THE BRITISH ARE ADVANCING TOWARD BAGDAD.

General Maude, British commander in Mesopotamia and conqueror of Kut-el-Amara, predicts the retreating Turks will reach Bagdad only as a disordered mob. Driven from (a) Sanna-Yat and (b) Kut-el-Amara, they were last reported at (c), thirty miles up the Tigris from Kut. The arrows indicate the direction of the continuing British attack.

COURT IN RECESS UNTIL NEXT MONDAY

When supreme court convened Monday afternoon, Judge Ridd presiding, no cases were ready for trial until the second week and an endeavor to make up a day calendar for today resulted in getting two or three short cases on the calendar. After an endeavor to find out whether other cases could be ready later in the week Justice Ridd announced that if the members of the bar so desired he would adjourn court until next Monday, when a number of cases would be ready.

County Attorney John Eckert and Amos Van Etten, after hearing the opinions of the other members of the bar, asked that an adjournment be taken until that time and that a day calendar be made up for next Monday. Many of the members of the bar are to appear before the court of appeals this week at Albany and will be unable to attend court here.

Upon the suggestion of the members of the bar, Justice Ridd made up the following calendar for Monday and took an adjournment until that time:

No. 34—Irving Van Valkenburg against Edna May Van Valkenburg. A divorce action. George Kaufman for plaintiff and Judge William D. Brininger, Jr. for defendant.

No. 4—Alice H. Neale against James Billingham. An action to recover for damages. A. J. Fowler for plaintiff and Roscoe Irwin for defendant.

No. 7—Charles H. Styles against the Kingston Gas & Electric Company, action for personal injuries. V. B. Van Wagoner for plaintiff and A. T. Clearwater for defendant.

No. 12—Walter H. Capuntz, by guardian, against Samuel Israel, action to recover for personal injuries. V. B. Van Wagoner for plaintiff and Roscoe Irwin for defendant.

No. 13—Jacob Forst against Kallman Goldman, action on guarantee. Brininger & Canfield for plaintiff and Traver & Murray for defendant.

No. 14—Kenfield-Leach Company against George B. Mentz and another, an action on contract. A. J. Fowler for plaintiff and E. H. Houghtaling for defendant.

No. 23—George Van Demark against Warren E. Burns, action to recover for personal injuries. Robert C. Moore for plaintiff and B. L. Pettigrew for defendant.

At the call of the grand jury, every man answered for his name and in order to comply with the law one name was drawn from the box, the name being that of Andrew Jacobs of the town of Saugerties. He was excused. Twelve votes are necessary to find an indictment and unless one man was excused from the twenty-four drawn it was possible for the vote to stand 12 and 12, so the law provides that there must be no more than 23 men.

This is the first that such an occurrence has come up in some time, although some of the members of the bar can remember seeing the same thing done several years ago.

A. P. Wilkox, of the town of Lloyd was chosen foreman of the grand jury by Justice Ridd and the body retired for their deliberations. Last time no indictments were found by the grand jury but it is understood that there are a number of matters to be decided at this term and there are several people now in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Six members of the trial jury were excused by Judge Ridd. They were Louis Basten, Kingston; David Ebel, Kingston; Angelos Hasbrouck, Lloyd; Silas LeFevre, Kingston; Nicholas Stock, Kingston; and John Wythe of Shawangunk, who is not a citizen of the United States. Frank Thompson of Kingston and Charles Fowler of Plattekill did not answer when their names were called.

Following the making up of the day calendar, thirty-one applicants for citizenship papers were examined.

KINGSTON STUDENT IS AWARDED PRIZE

Edward T. Stelle Won Third Place in State-wide Interscholastic Speaking Contest Held at Columbia University—Urged Support of President.

Kingston High school, through Edward T. Stelle, won third place in the interscholastic speaking contest held in Earl Hall, Columbia University, Friday night, the first place going to Ernest Brown, a colored boy student at New Rochelle High school. "The European Burden" was the subject of the prize-winning address. Thomas F. Carr of Elmira High Academy, won second place with his oration on the subject: "Resolved, That the Philippines Should not be given their Independence within Four Years."

Mr. Stelle's address was entitled "Back the Administration," and the third prize was of $15, the sum of $50 and $35 going to the first and second speakers, respectively. There were nine speakers, students from Buffalo, Syracuse and Ogdensburg institutions taking part.

Mr. Stelle, in his address, lauded President Wilson for his stand in such a crisis as our country has been placed in. "Now is the time to back the man who is responsible for the preservation of our flag. There should at the present time be one union of the people, one strength, one allegiance, one loyalty, and one patriotism," he said.

Each of the nine speakers did well in their presentations. The judges in selecting the winners considered the merits of each address and its presentation. Two of the judges selected the same three men in the same relative order while the third judge picked the three men who proved winners but in a different order.

In addition to receiving the money prize, each of the three winners was presented with a commemorative medal also awarded to the other six contestants as tokens of participation in the contest. The judges of the debate were Ruford Franklin '881, Jarvis P. Carter '951, and W. H. Danna '111. Despite the unfavorable weather conditions a large crowd attended the contest. Earl Hall was well filled with a representative gathering of parents and friends of the participants.

KOLB CONCERNED IN INSURRECTION PLOT

Military Expedition to India Through Aid of China Part of Wild Dream of Hoboken Bomb Makers.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 6.—Insurrections throughout the United States, a military expedition to a foreign country—said to be India—and conversion of the Chinese government to measures aimed to further Germany's cause, were all parts of a plot unearthed here today, according to the police.

Startling disclosures will result from an early morning raid on a house on West 120th street, and the subsequent arrest and confession of two of the tenants, police say. The prisoners describe themselves as Dr. Ernest Sekuner, 34, a German subject, and Dr. Chaudra Chakiaberty, 32, a Hindu. Both men are charged with conspiring to conduct a military expedition against a foreign nation friendly with the United States. The Hindu faces an additional charge of using a false passport.

Chakiaberty, who the police say was the brains and leader of the plot, is alleged to have confessed to having received $60,000 from Wolf von Igel, engineer of the Weland Canal plot, to carry on the work in this country. He also is said to have made a trip to Germany to consult with officials "higher up." It was on this trip that he is alleged to have used false passports.

Further arrests are promised by the police today. Among the arrests expected is that of a "prominent Chinese," who the police claim went to Pekin on a mission connected with the plot. He is alleged to have attempted to induce the Chinese government to allow arms to be imported into China from the United States, which were destined for India and China.

Three suit cases of documents and letters and a large quantity of chemicals were confiscated by the police in the raid, which consumed more than four hours. It was not until the two prisoners had gone through an all-night grilling that finally Sekuner broke down and made his confession, the police claim. Both men will be turned over to the federal authorities this afternoon and held for examination by a United States commissioner. In the meantime secret service men are scouring the city for a number of others said to be implicated in the intrigue.

New York police are today reluctant to discuss the case of Fritz Kolb, arrested as a plotter yesterday in Hoboken. They differ in their statements materially with the New Jersey police, who yesterday gave out a statement of Kolb's alleged confession of a plot to assassinate President Wilson. Kolb, the New Jersey police and the New York police have repudiated the alleged confession.

Despite the repudiation of Kolb's confession, police today declared the man was a cog in a newly discovered bomb plot, which they claim may involve at least six German-Americans. They have discovered that instead of being a barkeeper, as he claimed, Kolb is a skilled chemist. He has been a will of the wisp, police say, and his actions for the past months have shown that at frequent intervals he disappeared from sight completely. Kolb is today in jail at Hoboken and will be arraigned later in the day before a recorder on a specific charge of having high explosives in his possession.

WOULD ARREST THE MAYOR.

Sensation in Commission Government Campaign in Poughkeepsie.

In an effort to have warrants sworn out for the arrest of Mayor D. W. Wilbur, former President of the Common Council Charles W. Allen, Alderman James Slater and other Poughkeepsie city officials, Attorney William L. Gellart, representing the Taxpayers Association, has submitted his findings to District Attorney Raymond E. Aldrich. John Doe proceedings are now being before Supreme Court Justice Morschauer to see of the evidence is sufficient to issue a warrant. The officials are charged with having sold goods to the city, contrary to law, and the move is said to be part of the program in a campaign for commission government.

SCHUMAKER SENT TO ALBANY PEN

Got Drunk and Misused Wife and Children—Has Served Time in Jail—Sentenced to 60 Days—Forbade Wife Attending Church.

"Oh, my God, don't send me there," exclaimed Arthur Schumaker, of No. 76 West Union street, after Judge Lang had found him guilty of illtreating his wife and children and had sentenced him to 60 days in the pen at Albany.

"You have had your chance," replied the court, waving to the officer to lead Schumaker away.

Schumaker was arrested on Monday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by his wife, and being unable to furnish bail, spent the night in the county jail. This morning he was arraigned before Recorder Lang in recorder's court.

Shocking details of an unhappy home were related by Mrs. Schumaker as she testified in regard to her husband's conduct since his release from jail last summer. According to her story her husband would spend Sundays at home drinking whiskey and cursing and swearing at her and their five children. The youngest child is two years old and the oldest is 12 years.

"He is drinking so I can't live with him," said Mrs. Schumaker, who went on to inform the court that her husband had forbidden her attending church, visiting her sister or her friends, and had told her that her place was in the house caring for her children. She said that Sundays he would go out and bring home a bottle of whiskey from a nearby saloon.

Mr. Schumaker said that he gave his wife every cent of money he made when he worked.

"There is no question here of not supporting your wife," Recorder Lang said, "but of your abuse of your family, and failure to act as a husband and a father should."

It was brought out by the court that the last time Schumaker had been sent to jail he had fatuously promised to climb on the water wagon and care for his family.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Lang informed Schumaker that he had been lenient with him in the past but he had failed to keep his promises made last year.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO FREE CARUSO

New habeas corpus proceedings taken by Agostino Caruso of Glascow, who is in jail to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, were argued before Judge Hasbrouck at supreme court chambers this morning by Caruso's attorney, Frederick E. W. Darrow, with Frank W. Brooks of counsel, who urged that Caruso be released, and by District Attorney Traver on behalf of The People, who contended that the commitment made by Justice of the Peace Childster of Saugerties was sufficient to hold defendant without going into the question of the form of the information made by the complaining witness on which the warrant had been issued. City Judge William D. Brininger, Jr., who appeared for the complaining witness in the proceedings before Justice Childster, and also when habeas corpus proceedings were argued before Judge Jenkins last week, did not appear in the new proceeding.

Judge Jenkins's decision that Caruso should remain in jail was handed down Monday, and the new proceedings were instituted by Mr. Darrow late in the afternoon, being made returnable at ten o'clock this morning. Mr. Darrow and Mr. Brooks contended that the commitment not only was irregular but that the information prepared for the complaining witness on which the warrant was issued was also fatally defective and therefore Justice Childster never had acquired jurisdiction and had no right to commit Caruso.

District Attorney Traver held that the information could not be attacked at the present time, the sheriff's return setting up only the commitment as his authority for holding Caruso, and the sheriff being without knowledge of the information or proceedings before Justice Childster, these papers being required to be filed by Justice Childster in the county clerk's office. The object of the section of the penal law which Caruso was accused of having violated, he said, in enumerating various acts relating to carrying concealed weapons, blackjacks, etc., and specifying under what circumstances they were misdemeanors and under what circumstances they were felonies, could be invoked only if punishment for one class of crime was imposed for the commission of another class, and the duty of Justice Childster had been completed when he found that Caruso had violated one of the provisions of the section and had held him—which was all that he could do under the law—to await the action of the grand jury.

Judge Hasbrouck reserved decision.

CONCESSIONS ARE MADE BY AUSTRIA

Will Support Germany in New Submarine Warfare But Will Endeavor to Prevent Breach in Diplomatic Relations With United States.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, March 6.—Austria will support Germany in her new submarine warfare but will make certain concessions designed to prevent a breach of diplomatic relations with the United States.

This was the interpretation placed here today on cabled summaries of the Austrian reply to President Wilson's note received from Vienna.

The Austrian reply has been handed to Ambassador Penfield at Vienna and is being forwarded to Washington according to press versions. Austria warns Americans and other neutrals not to take passage on the high seas during the war zone, but by inference makes it plain that it does not intend to sink neutral ships without warning.

The Austrian note is in answer to a communication sent by the United States on February 18, asking for a statement of the Austrian government's position in view of Germany's change in submarine policy and declaration of ruthless submarine warfare. President Wilson asked if the pledge given by Austria following the Ancona sinking was to be withdrawn.

Austria places blame for the adoption of a new submarine policy by the Central Powers upon the Allies, particularly upon Great Britain. Britain is charged with having cast aside the Declaration of London, embodying certain international agreements with reference to sea war, thus paving the way for a new set of rules regarding modern warfare on the seas.

The Austrian government contends that neutrals in wartime may enjoy the freedom of the seas only when traveling upon neutral vessels. Austria further declares that the rights of belligerents must predominate and that if belligerents warn neutrals of their intention to pursue a certain war policy toward neutral ships, it is the duty of the neutrals to take measures to avoid conflict with that policy.

It is not expected that the president will consent to "haggle" with Austria over the submarine situation. This government has asked squarely whether the pledges given in the Ancona case have been withdrawn. If Austria says that this is so and that she endorses the German plan of treating a zone within which merchant vessels are to be torpedoed or shelled without warning, then the president in order to be consistent must recall Ambassador Penfield, officials point out.

However, Austria makes it plain that her submarines are under orders to observe the requirements of international law, then further discussion will take place and Ambassador Tarnowski will be permitted to present his credentials.

The Austrian embassy this morning was without any word from Vienna regarding the Austrian answer, officials said.

SUBMARINES ARE BEING REFITTED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Amsterdam, March 6.—Practically all the German submarines that left ports when the ruthless warfare was declared upon have now returned to their bases to be overhauled and supplied with more torpedoes.

Dispatches from Berlin today brought this news and explained why so few sinkings have been reported in the last week. A new fleet, it was said, will leave German harbors the latter part of this week in a fresh campaign against merchantmen entering the barred zone.

Despite rumors from London that one or more of the U-boats have been captured or destroyed since the new German submarine policy went into effect, Berlin dispatches today asserted that every submarine that started out when the new warfare was declared, has returned in safety.

Several of the U-boats reported captured with British patrol boats and destroyers. Berlin reports that they escaped practically unharmed. The German Admiralty is preparing a statement of the sinkings of hostile merchantmen which will be completed when all the U-boats have reported.

RUTHLESS WARFARE BY MANAGER COHEN

Theater Manager Stands for Clean Shows Only as Shown by Experience of "Midnight Maidens" Whose Lines Were Censored of Suggestive Material.

George Cohen, who conducts theaters at Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Beacon and who is at the head of the movement to build a new theater on Wall street, this city, is a strict censor of shows that appear in his theaters, according to a story published several days ago in the Newburgh Journal, which says:

George Cohen censored the "Midnight Maidens" when they made their appearance last August at the Cohen Opera House on Broadway. As in his custom he had a rehearsal of the play, and when they were given he ruthlessly eliminated a lot of the stuff the maidens were anxious to present the show-goers with, and by the time the censorship had been completed there wasn't enough of the original play left for the maidens to tie their lingers to. As a result the manager didn't take it to his knees, and when Mr. Cohen told him the same rule applied to the presentation in the Cohen theater at Poughkeepsie, Gus Hill, the producer of the midnight affair, declined to present such a ragged skit. Now Gus has sued Mr. Cohen for the amount he would have received had the play been presented the requisite number of nights. Mr. Cohen says he will fight it to the end.

When the public meeting was held in the city council room two weeks ago, to consider the question of the censorship of the plays and pictures to be presented, Mr. Cohen stated there was no necessity for censoring plays or pictures that came to his house, as he personally looked after one feature of every production and Mrs. Cohen looked after another, the two giving the plays and pictures a closer scrutiny than persons who might be designated by the city possibly could do. The outcome in the Gus Hill case shows that he trimmed up one show in a style that the management was far from gratified with.

George Martin, local manager for Mr. Cohen, said he had learned that Mr. Cohen had said yesterday "the show was of such a character that it would not permit it to be staged in my house. I censored the entire production and insisted that several whole scenes be eliminated on account of suggestive material."

"I naturally refused to pay the entire contract price for the show, as it was not the kind of a production I had contracted for."

"At the close of the contract here I notified the producing company which had booked the show for me as to the nature of the burlesque. I understood that the company notified Mr. Hill at that time that he would either have to clean up his show or his entire season's contract would be cancelled."

"I am striving to put on clean shows, and I am going to fight this case, even if it costs me more than the amount involved. I am going to find out from the courts if the producer has a right to put any kind of a show on the boards and the manager of the house has nothing to say about the nature of the production."

"And so far as I am personally concerned," continued Mr. Martin "you may add that I am in complete accord with the views taken by Mr. Cohen. If a play is not what it ought to be, it will not be put on the boards of the Cohen theater in Newburgh. While censorship is unnecessary, so far as our productions are concerned, we have no fear about the closest investigation and most thorough criticism."

TOTAL HARVEST 623,976 TONS.

Burns Brothers Corporation Finish Ice Cutting.

With a total tonnage of 623,976 tons cut, hoisted and housed, Burns Brothers' Ice Corporation have about completed their ice harvesting for the season of 1917. They have a small quantity of ice to harvest at the Norton house on Green Island, possibly 5,000 tons, which will depend upon weather conditions. The company had on hand when the season started about 35,000 tons. With the big crop harvested they have been pleased with results. It has been one of the greatest seasons for the ice men in many years despite the scarcity and high cost of labor. The harvest has been steady almost from start to finish and the grade of ice is A-1. There are but few houses along the river which have not been filled.

Entertainment at South Rondout.

Friday evening, March 16, at the South Rondout M. E. Church, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, a St. Patrick's Day entertainment will be given. One of the attractions will be impersonations of Harry Lauder by Mr. Timmie of Port Ewen. A good evening's pleasure is assured all who come. A small admission will be charged and ice cream will be sold after the entertainment.

Trinity Ladies' Aid.

The Ladies' Society of the Trinity M. E. Church will hold its annual meeting at the church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. As officers will be elected and other important matters come up for consideration, a full attendance is desirable.

CITY HOME IN NEED OF A COOK

"Gene" Harris, Who Has Been Cook For 19 Years, Forced to Retire by Ill Health—Charity Commissioners Audit Over $11,000 in Bills.

Eugene A. Harris, better known to his friends as Gene, who for nineteen years has presided over the destinies of the kitchen at the City Home, has at last been forced to retire owing to ill health. Mr. Harris will be greatly missed at the institution, said Superintendent Edmonston Monday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Charity Commissioners held at the city hall, and he paid Mr. Harris the highest compliment one man can pay another when he said "Gene is not only a first class cook, but he is an honest man."

Mr. Harris started to work at the institution when it was known as the almshouse and continued at work when the institution was dignified by its present title of City Home. Administrations may come and administrations may go but it made no difference in regard to Gene's job, for every one realized he was a good man and it would be hard work to get another man to fill his place in the kitchen.

Superintendent Edmonston said that Mr. Harris while not in the best of health informed him he would work as long as possible in order that a good man might be secured for the job. Mr. Harris's health is such that he is finding it impossible to fulfill the arduous duties of cook at the institution. The job has been paying $45 a month and board.

President Waterbury presided at the meeting Monday evening with Commissioners Fischer, Lang Stock, Kellerman and Davis, and Superintendent Edmonston present.

The most important business transacted at the meeting was the auditing of bills of the local merchants totalling $11,293.32, which will be paid as soon as the warrants are drawn. Several routine matters were discussed and the reports of Secretary Edmonston as found below were adopted. They read as follows:

Secretary's Report.

Superintendent Edmonston, who is secretary of the board, submitted the following reports:

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

The will of Fred Taber of the town of Marlborough has been admitted to probate in the surrogate's court. To his daughter, Mary Taber, the testator bequeaths his life insurance of $1,000. To his grandson, William Lais, he gives the privilege of buying the homestead farm for $5,000, and should the grandson elect not to purchase it at that price he empowers the executor to sell the same and divide the proceeds in the same proportions as are provided for the distribution of the residuary estate. All other real estate and the personal property are to be divided in the following proportions: To his children, Ricka Tiel, Augusta Dayton, Fred Taber, Jr., Mary Taber and Anna Brown, one-sixth each; to his grandchildren, Hilda Lais and William Lais, one-twelfth each. The daughter, Mary Taber, and son, Fred Taber, Jr., are appointed executors. The will was executed January 4, 1915, and witnessed by A. D. Lent and A. W. Lent. The value of the real estate is $10,000 and the personal property amounts to $12,000. A. D. & A. W. Lent appeared for the executors.

Minstrels at Accord.

The minstrel show and dance given by the American Mechanics of Accord on Wednesday evening in the Odd Fellows' Hall, was a great success. Every one took their parts splendidly and much credit is due M. C. Stratton, the manager. The DeLoe electric light plant installed in the Odd Fellows' Hall was demonstrated by O. Ruge of Kingston. It was a great improvement to the stage, having footlights.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

To kind and just and grateful hearts The present grace is given To find a heaven in themselves, And find themselves in heaven.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

When a small amount of meat is left from dinner a meatpie will use the left-overs, making a most palatable dish.

Veal and Ham Pie.—Take half a pound each of cooked veal and ham, cut in small pieces; add two cupsful of cooked macaroni, one small, chopped onion, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, two hard cooked eggs, chopped fine. Mix well and season with salt and pepper; add a half a cupful of veal gravy and four tablespoonsful of butter. Line a dish with pastry, fill with the mixture and cover with pastry. Bake in a medium hot oven and serve with slices of lemon.

Braised Tongue.—Put a fresh tongue in a kettle, cover with boiling water and cook slowly two hours. Remove the tongue and take off the skin and roots. Place in a deep pan and surround with a third of a cupful each of carrot, onion and celery, cut in dice; add a sprig of parsley, then pour over four cupsful of the sauce. Cover closely and bake two hours, turning after the first hour. Serve on a platter with the following sauce strained over it.

Brown Sauce for Tongue.—Brown a fourth of a cupful of butter, add one-quarter of a cupful of flour and stir until well mixed. Add four cupsful of the stock in which the tongue was cooked. Season well with salt and pepper. A cupful of tomatoes may be added in place of a cupful of the stock if desired.

Dietetic Brown Bread.—Take one and a half cupsful of Graham flour, one-half cupful of bran, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of soda, a half cupful of molasses and one and a quarter cupsful of hot water. Steam in baking powder cans two hours, then dry in the oven.

Peach Tea Cake.—Cream two tablespoonsful of butter, add a half cupful of sugar, one egg, one-half cupful of milk, two teaspoonsful of baking powder and two cupsful of sifted flour. Spread in a large shallow pan and cover with sliced peaches, add a few kernels, a sprinkling of sugar and cinnamon. Bake 35 minutes in a hot oven.

Father Falls Again.

Did you ever watch the bright young man father has picked out as the man with a future and invited home for dinner?

The R. Y. M. has read somewhere in his youth that B. Y. men are supposed to fall in love with and marry the boss daughter. And he sits and stares at her, nervous as the dickens because he can't decide which is worse—losing his job or following precedent.

The farm woodlot can furnish work for men and teams during the winter months when other work is scarce. Besides adding the farmer on the labor question, the woodlot can supply a portion of the building material, the bulk of the repair material and a large part, if not all, of the fuel used on the average farm. In addition, the well-kept woodlot may be made a source of outside income through sales of timber, ties or fuel wood.

FLAG HISTORY IN STIRRING EXHIBIT

Intensely Interesting Display at Van Wagenen Store Anniversary Shows Different Emblems Raised on This Continent Since Cabot's Time to Present.

Perhaps one of the most encouraging signs of an awakening patriotism in this country today is the aroused interest in the American flag, its history and its present display from homes and public buildings. That our flag has a past, and a very interesting one, as well as a loved and inspiring present and a glorious future is visibly proven by the most unusual display of all flags that can in any sense be called "American," together with a bit of their history, at the Van Wagenen store, during its forty-sixth anniversary sale, which begins today.

Flag No. 1, is the old red cross flag of England, the first flag known to have been used in this country. Under its folds, Sebastian Cabot landed at Labrador in 1497, claiming all of North America for his sovereign, King Henry the VII. (Columbus carried the Spanish flag of Ferdinand and Isabella, but did not land on these shores.)

Flag No. 2, shows the King's colors, or the "Mayflower flag." In 1606, King James of England ordered the white cross of St. Andrew, added to the red cross of St. George, and the field changed from white to blue. The Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock, under this flag.

Flag No. 3, is the "Cromwell flag," having a red ground, with the combined crosses of St. George and St. Andrew in the upper left hand corner.

Flag No. 4, is the little known "Blue Tree flag," which was in general use about 1760. There were many modifications of this flag, but the one displayed on this occasion was the one semi-officially recognized.

Flag No. 5, was known as the "Rattlesnake flag." This was first used in the southern states, and originated in South Carolina in 1775.

Flag No. 6, "The Cambridge Flag," was the first flag to have thirteen stripes. In the upper left hand corner appears the old style English flag instead of stars on a blue field.

Flag No. 7, is the "Betsy Ross Flag." It has thirteen stars and thirteen stripes, the stars being set in a circle. This flag was made of English bunting, under the direct supervision of George Washington, the material for its making being presented by John Hancock.

Flag No. 8, is the "Francis Scott Key Flag," having fifteen stars and fifteen stripes; the flag which inspired "The Star Spangled Banner."

Flag No. 9, is the "Lone Star Flag," the flag which is associated with Davy Crockett and the Alamo, the first and only flag of the Texas Republic.

Flag No. 10, is the "Confederate Flag" or "Southern Cross," the flag of Jefferson Davis and General Lee.

Flag No. 11, is our American flag of today, with its forty-eight stars and thirteen stripes.

Besides the above mentioned flags, two highly interesting historical pictures are being exhibited; one "Raising the First American Flag," by Clyde O. DeLand; the other, "The First American Flag in Battle," by E. Percy Moran. The first painting represents the ceremony of raising the first American flag, "thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; with the Union, thirteen stars, white on a blue field," representing a new constellation," in the presence of General Washington, then in his prime, together with his aides, Generals Greene and Mifflin. The scene is laid in the interior of Prospect Hill fortifications with a distant view of Boston looking across the Charles river.

"The First American Flag in Battle," the setting is the Mohawk Valley, New York, and the main incident the siege of Fort Schuyler, or Stanwix, in August, 1777. The garrison being without a flag as the enemy appeared, one was quickly improvised, the white stripes being made from the shirts of the men, bits of scarlet cloth were provided from the women's petticoats, and the blue ground for the stars was the cloth coat belonging to Captain Abraham Swarthout of Dutchess County who was then in the fort. Mr. Moran has made a typically heroic battle picture of this subject. It will further be recalled that it was during this siege that the half-witted boy was pressed into service in a ruse to raise the siege, which was successful.

This patriotic display is open to the public and in addition, during the anniversary sale, customers at the store will be given as souvenirs, tiny American flag pins or buttons.

Gift to Schools.

In every room in our public schools and in our parochial schools will be found hanging, today, a calendar, some five feet in length and bearing in addition to the large pad of large dates, a remarkably fine reproduction of the painting, "The Stars and Stripes Forever," by Henry Mosler. The original painting portrays one of the most interesting and inspiring incidents in American history, yet one little known. On November 25, 1783, the date on which the British and Loyalists evacuated New York, thus concluding their long occupation of the city, as General Knox marched in to take possession of Fort George, it was found that the British had nailed their colors to the top of the flag staff, knocked off the cleats and "slashed" the pole from top to bottom to prevent its being climbed. John Van Arsdel, a lively sailor boy of sixteen, determined that the American flag must at once occupy the supreme place, announcing the freedom of the states to the ships containing the British and Loyalists then sailing down the harbor. So, nailing on the cleats, he climbed the flag staff, tore down the English flag, and amid the wild cheering of soldiers and citizens, unfurled and fastened a beautiful new American flag of the stars and stripes at the top. The calendar reproduction is enough to thrill indeed the heart of every school boy, and un-

Animals Have No Sense of Rhythm.

Animals have no sense of rhythm, though they may be taught to dance. This is the announcement of Doctor Craig of the University of Maine. "Horses driven in span," he says in the Guide to Nature, "make no attempt to step together. Two birds, however, sweetly they sing solo, never sing in time with one another nor with any other music. Even the so-called dancing animals of the circus get their rhythm from the trainer, not from the tune."

"BUFFALO BILL" STATUE.*MONUMENT TO BUFFALO BILL.

The national monument to William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) will be modelled on the figure shown in the photograph. The site of the monument, on Lookout Mountain, Denker Mountain Park, upon which the figure stands, has been dedicated for that purpose by the City of Denver. The mounted figure of Colonel Cody is a reproduction from the famous painting, executed by the noted Italian artist, which Colonel Cody preferred even to the canvas painted by Rosa Bonheur, because it shows him leaning forward in the saddle with true "cowboy seat." The site on Lookout Mountain is 2,000 feet higher than Denver and the statue will be visible from that city.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 6, 1917.

After all the vigorous editorial expression in condemnation of the eleven Senators whose filibuster killed the granting of power to the President to establish armed neutrality through the arming of American merchant ships, it may well be considered whether the attitude of these men was not consistent in every way with the record of the Administration from the Lusitania case down to the present time. As then "he kept us out of war," so now "they kept us out of war," but the reward is not forthcoming. The sentiment of the people of the United States not so many months ago was all in favor of the record of inaction, the dilatory, diplomacy and the succession of notes which marked the Wilson Administration's conduct of the negotiations over the wanton attacks on American honor and American rights, to say nothing of the destruction of American lives in sinking the Lusitania. Today that sentiment has changed, as is shown by the overwhelming majority in congress in favor of the measure whose fate is so lamented by all patriotic Americans. The eclectic eleven, now being so justly and roundly abused, were merely standing pat on the doctrine of keeping us out of war. Scarcely have National politics witnessed so complete a turning of the tables, and all the wit and wisdom of Woodrow Wilson were of no avail as against the firmness of these eleven disciples of his erstwhile teachings.

"There can be no turning back," declared President Wilson, and that truism finds a responsive echo in the hearts of the American people who will also take due measure of joy in the expression: "I know now what the task means." Let us go forward. That is the main meaning of President Wilson's second inaugural address. He does well to emphasize the importance to be placed upon American unity, yet, in spite of all our mistakes in Mexico and our blunders with Berlin, the President has ever been able to turn to a loyal and patriotic people, intent upon upholding the hands of their Chief Magistrate. The test of the last four years has been a trying one upon President and people. Both well "know now what the task means." With the knowledge born of experience, the Administration should at once take up the task before it and, convening Congress, endeavor to straighten out the humiliating situation in which a great republic finds itself at the opening of President Wilson's second term.

Where rolls the Oregon there is rolling up a wave of wrath against Senator Harry Lane, one of the eleven United States Senators who figured in the filibuster which killed the Armed Neutrality bill. A recall election is set for June 4, and it will be interesting to watch the outcome of this Judge Lynch legislation in operation. "He kept us out of war" is evidently no longer an effective slogan. It may win the west in the heat of a campaign, but it cannot hold it. Here in New York State, the ending of Senator O'Gorman's incumbency terminates a political career of a few years' duration amid much bitterness on his part in the sensational proceedings of Sunday. Senator O'Gorman was the last Senator to be chosen by the Legislature in New York State. Senator Lane is the product of all those hybrid systems of nomination and election for which Oregon has become famous. To judge the old and the new systems by these two glittering examples finds us groping in the darkness again. The initiative, referendum and the recall fail to show any improvement over the calibre of men chosen by convention systems or legislatures. The people are just beginning to awaken to that fact.

Attempts to regulate the liquor business continue to align the reformers at Albany into different camps. The Governor is insisting that a local option measure be passed, the Anti-Saloon League extremists are demanding some sort of an elimination-by-petition scheme to wipe out the saloons, while the Senate Committee on Taxation urges a bill which cuts all liquor licenses to the basis of one to every 500 in population and increases the excise tax. The Prohibitionists are standing pat on their own theories and lending a hand to aid any compromise which appears a step toward realization of their aims. And while all this is going on, the State departments are all of them spending to the limit of their appropriations and more money is necessary to carry on the State government. Until there is real retrenchment in the expenses of administration, local optionists and the "dry" must find some new source of revenue to take the place of the liquor traffic, which is the backbone in the body politic when it comes to raising money. Unless we are prepared to resort to a stamp tax, or some oppressive forms of direct taxation, the hands of the reformers now at work upon the Legislature must be stayed.

Getting Even.

A young man and a young woman leaned on the front gate. They were lovers. It was moonlight. He was loath to leave, as the parting was the last. He was about to go away.

"I'll never forget you," he said, "and if death should claim me, my last thought would be of you."

"I'll be true to you," she sobbed. "I'll never love anybody else as long as I live."

They parted. Six years later he returned. His sweetheart of former years was married. They met at a party. She had changed greatly. Between dances recognition took place.

"Let me see, she mused, "was it you or your brother who was my old sweetheart?"

"Neither," he replied. "Probably my father."—New York Times.

The Luxuries Would Cease.

"Do you think you can support my daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed?" asked the girl's father. "I'm afraid not," replied the young man, "but she has assured me that she will not expect me, after we are married, to buy her as many gloves as I have been furnishing her or to take her away from home to get something good to eat every other evening, and she has even consented to quit making it necessary for me to hire a taxi whenever we happen to be within walking distance of the place we are bound for."

"Oh, well, if you're going to be disagreeable about it, take her."—Brooklyn Citizen.

Hindoo Formality.

As rats did much damage to his papers the Hindoo clerk in charge of the official documents in one of the more remote Indian towns obtained permission to keep two cats, the larger of them receiving rather better rations, relates The Buffalo Commercial.

A few weeks later the head office at Delhi received this despatch: "I have the honor to inform you that the senior cat is absent without leave. What shall I do?" To this problem there was vouchsafed no answer. After waiting a few days the Hindoo sent off a proposal. "In re absentee cat, I propose to promote the junior cat and in the meantime to take into government service a probationer cat on full rations."

STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"They tell me the common council meets tonight," said the friend to the street corner politician.

"You were correctly informed," replied the politician with a smile.

"What will they do with the church-theater proposition?" asked the friend.

"The usual thing," said the politician.

"What's that?" asked the friend.

"Considerable oratory and no action," replied the politician.

"Did the Jefferson Club have any representative at the doings in Washington Monday?" asked the friend after a pause in the conversation.

"Not officially as far as I know," replied the politician.

"What! Was none of the members there?" queried the friend in surprise.

"There might have been," replied the politician, "but the majority of the leading light of the club would rather stay at home."

"How is that?" asked the friend.

"They would not be given a chance to make a speech," replied the politician.

"What do you mean by that?" queried the friend rather blankly.

"Some of them would rather orate than eat," explained the politician, adding "are you a member of the Clinton Guards?"

"No," replied the friend. "I did not care to be called out to do war duty as I am not as young as I used to be."

"Where did you get that idea that you would be called out for war duty," asked the politician.

"That's what they all say," explained the friend, "and if you join you may be sent out any time to guard the aqueduct in place of Company M."

"In place of Company M?" queried the politician.

"Sure," replied the friend. "If war is declared Company M will be sent to the front and the Clinton Guards will guard the aqueduct."

"Ha, ha," said the politician.

"What are you laughing at," asked the friend.

"The idea of the Clinton Guards guarding the aqueduct," chuckled the politician.

"Nothing funny about that," replied the friend somewhat indignant.

"The fact is," said the politician sobering somewhat "that the Clinton Guards is a mere social organization, and stands about as much chance of being called out for war duty as you or I."

"What do you mean," asked the friend.

"The members of the guard are a lot of good fellows who like to get out and drill once a week," explained the politician, "but they have no more right to use the armory for what purpose than any other citizen."

"But they do it," retorted the friend.

"Sure," replied the politician, "and they do a lot of other things in Kingston, too."

"I hope this is the last snow storm of the year," said the friend, changing the subject.

"So do I, but I am afraid it is not," replied the politician.

"How do you figure that out?" asked the friend.

"Simply judging from the weather we had last year at this time," replied the politician.

"What was that?" queried the friend.

"If I remember," said the politician, "we had a snow storm the latter part of March last year, and sleighs continued running across the river on the ice along in the early part of April."

"Now that you speak of it," replied the friend, "it strikes me you are right."

"Anyway we owe the street railway a vote of thanks," said the politician.

"How is that," asked the friend.

"They got the snow plow out and when I went to work Monday morning I did not have to plow through 'but walked in the car tracks.'"

"It is handy for those living near the railroad," confessed the friend.

"The great trouble with the car line in the city," confessed the politician, "is the fact that in winter the cars on the Kingston city division do not run through to Kingston Point and if you want to go through it means waiting on the corner until a Colonial car comes along."

"That's right," said the friend.

"What the city needs," explained the politician, "is a car line running through to the outskirts of the city."

"What outskirts?" queried the friend.

"Well, for instance," said the politician, "it would be a good thing if a car line ran through West Chautauk district, through Delaware avenue and that district and out through Foxhall avenue and the Promised Land."

"Do you think we will ever see it though?" queried the friend.

"About the same time we see the West Shore crossing eliminated," replied the politician.

Standardized Lines

Less time consumed in the actual selling, means more time for personal contact with our friends.

Our shelves hold only standardized lines—products half sold by a name of merit gained by years of service. They cost more to us—in money—but they leave time for the often hurried motorist to request a fog-lifting explanation of that point. That's what we want. To illustrate, consider, MILLER Geared-to-the-Road TIRES.

Here is an established brand—a product deep-rooted in the regard of thousands of motorists. It is a real pleasure to sell Millers. No arguing—no visions of a scowling, returning face. A quick sale. And the saved time can be devoted to assisting you.

This is the fourth of a weekly series outlining our policies and plans for serving the motorists of Kingston. Watch for them all!

FLAG HISTORY IN STIRRING EXHIBIT

Intensely Interesting Display at Van Wageningen Store Anniversary Shows Different Emblems Raised on This Continent Since Cabot's Time to Present.

Perhaps one of the most encouraging signs of an awakening patriotism in this country today is the aroused interest in the American flag, its history and its present display from homes and public buildings. That our flag has a past, and a very interesting one, as well as a loved and inspiring present and a glorious future is visibly proven by the most unusual display of all flags that can in any sense be called "American," together with a bit of their history, at the Van Wageningen store, during its forty-sixth anniversary sale, which begins today.

Flag No. 1, is the old red cross flag of England, the first flag known to have been used in this country. Under its folds, Sebastian Cabot landed at Labrador in 1497, claiming all of North America for his sovereign, King Henry the VII. (Columbus carried the Spanish flag of Ferdinand and Isabella, but did not land on these shores.)

Flag No. 2, shows the King's colors, or the "Mayflower flag." In 1609, King James of England ordered the white cross of St. Andrew, added to the red cross of St. George, and the field changed from white to blue. The Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock, under this flag.

Flag No. 3, is the "Cromwell flag," having a red ground, with the combined crosses of St. George and St. Andrew in the upper left hand corner.

Flag No. 4, is the little known "Pine Tree flag," which was in general use about 1780. The flag was many modifications of this flag, but the one displayed on this occasion was the one semi-officially recognized.

Flag No. 5, was known as the "Rattlesnake flag." This was first used in the southern states, and originated in South Carolina in 1775.

Flag No. 6, "The Cambridge Flag," was the first flag to have thirteen stripes. In the upper left hand corner appears the old style English flag instead of stars on a blue field.

Flag No. 7, is the "Betsy Ross Flag." It has thirteen stars and thirteen stripes, the stars being set in a circle. This flag was made of English bunting, under the direct supervision of George Washington, the material for its making being presented by John Hancock.

Flag No. 8, is the "Francis Scott Key Flag," having fifteen stars and fifteen stripes; the flag which inspired "The Star Spangled Banner."

Flag No. 9, is the "Lone Star Flag," the flag which is associated with Davy Crockett and the Alamo, the first and only flag of the Texas Republic.

Flag No. 10, is the "Confederate Flag" or "Southern Cross," the flag of Jefferson Davis and General Lee.

Flag No. 11, is our American flag of today, with its forty-eight stars and thirteen stripes.

Besides the above mentioned flags, two highly interesting historical pictures are being exhibited; one "Raising the First American Flag," by Clyde O. Deland, the other "The First American Flag in Battle," by E. Percy Moran. The first painting represents the ceremony of raising the first American flag, "thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; with the Union, thirteen stars, white on a blue field, representing a new constellation." In the presence of General Washington, then in his prime, together with his aides, Generals Greene and Mifflin. The scene is laid in the interior of Prospect Hill fortifications with a distant view of Boston looking across the Charles river.

"The First American Flag in Battle." The setting is the Mohawk Valley, New York, and the main incident the siege of Fort Schuyler, or Stanwix, in August, 1777. The Garrison being without a flag, the enemy appeared, one was quickly improvised, the thirteen stripes being made from the shirts of the men, bits of scarlet cloth were provided from the women's petticoats, and the blue ground for the stars was the cloth coat belonging to Captain Abraham Swarthout of Dutchess County who was then in the fort. Mr. Moran has made a typically heroic battle picture of this subject. It will further be recalled that it was during this siege that the half-witted boy was pressed into service in a race to raise the siege, which was successful.

This patriotic display is open to the public and in addition, during the anniversary sale, customers at the store will be given as souvenirs, tiny American flag pins or buttons.

Gift to Schools.

In every room in our public schools and in our parochial schools will be found hanging, today, a calendar, some five feet in length and bearing in addition to the large pad of large dates, a remarkably fine reproduction of the painting, "The Stars and Stripes Forever," by Henry Mosler.

The original painting, portrays one of the most interesting and inspiring incidents in American history, yet one little known. On November 25, 1783, the date on which the British and Loyalists evacuated New York, thus concluding their long occupation of the city, as General Knox marched in to take possession of Fort George. It was found that the British had nailed their colors to the top of the flag staff, knocked off the cleats and "slashed" the pole from top to bottom to prevent its being climbed.

John Van Arsdale, a lively sailor boy of sixteen, determined that the American flag must at once occupy the supreme place, announcing the freedom of the states to the ships containing the British and Loyalists then sailing down the harbor. So, pulling on the cleats, he climbed the flag staff, tore down the English flag, and amid the wild cheering of soldiers and citizens, unfurled a flag of fastened a beautiful new American flag of the Stars and Stripes at the top. The calendar reproduction is enough to thrill indeed the heart of every school boy, and un-

Animals Have No Sense of Rhythm.

Animals have no sense of rhythm, though they may be taught to dance. This is the announcement of Doctor Craig of the University of Maine. "Horses driven in span," he says in the Guide to Nature, "make no attempt to step together. Two birds, however sweetly they sing solo, never sing in time with one another nor with any other music. Even the so-called dancing animals of the circus get their rhythm from the trainer, not from the tune."

"BUFFALO BILL" STATUE.

MONUMENT TO BUFFALO BILL.

The national monument to William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) will be modelled on the figure shown in the photograph. The site of the monument, on Lookout Mountain, Denver Mountain Park, upon which the figure stands, has been dedicated for that purpose by the City of Denver. The mounted figure of Colonel Cody is a reproduction from the famous painting, executed by the noted Italian artist, which Colonel Cody preferred even to the canvas painted by Rosa Bonheur, because it shows him leaning forward in the saddle with true "cowboy seat." The site on Lookout Mountain is 2,000 feet higher than Denver and the statue will be visible from that city.

Lenten Sale of UNUSUAL THINGS(Reported for The Freeman in "Vogue" style by a special "Rogue" reporter.)I have never seen the little shop at Number one Main street so attractive as it is just now with its unusual assortment of Easter gifts and Spring novelties. A peep into the window tempted me to enter for a more detailed investigation.An assortment of Chinese embroideries offers a rare opportunity for the woman who wants to buy something decidedly out of the ordinary. These lovely things are on view at the Exchange for a short time only, and will not be sold here again.The exquisite oriental embroideries on the daintiest of linen make lunch clothes, napkins and dinner cloths too beautiful for words.A bedspread in this collection draws the eye of the discerning woman. You can't get these things or even see them after the fifteenth of the month.I saw quite a few of the little "rest pillows" now so smart in the bedroom of the modern woman.
Vogue calls them "Sweetheart pillows." Some have the nainsook covers embroidered and others are made with flit lace insertions and edging.The word flit reminds me of the new flit nightie-yokes that are now so very modish. These are found in numberless designs in the little shop, and a clever girl can buy one of these yokes and construct the robe de nuit or chemise herself.
They make a charming gift for a trousseau chest.It is a far cry from lingerie to the Paisley shawl, but I must not fail to mention that there are two of these much sought after articles at the Exchange. At a price too, that compares absurdly with the sun-drenched in New York. If you want an old Paisley, by all means ask to see these.It seems that every woman in New York whether she be in street, afternoon or evening dress, carries on her arm a bag. Bags of silk ribbon, of satin or of velvet, distinguished by embroidery or beading. Everyone seems to have gone bag-mad in New York, and in Kingston too, for our squares women here echo the Metropolitan styles to the smallest detail.
Whatever sort of a bag you want,
you will find it at the Exchange, not factory made, but bearing the subtle touch of a gentlewoman's handiwork.Miss Noyes cannot put the pretty pink and blue baby things in the window. They are so delectable that the sun fairly eats them up. They are all hidden away in boxes for those who ask for them, and are too good to see. You won't be able to resist them. The Exchange is the shop par excellence for infant's garments.Do you know what Hardanger embroidery is? If not, lose no time in finding out. It is lovely. You will find it here in all its beauty. For the table it is stunning, and much newer than anything else in table linen. I was also taken with the many different embroidered pieces known as "between cloths." These are for use on the dining table between meals. The ones on ecru linen embroidered in dull blues or brilliant yellows are particularly effective. Whatever the color scheme of your dining room, you can find at the Exchange a "between cloth" which will make your table distinctive and elegant.These items have been chosen at random from the varied stock at the Woman's Exchange. Everything else a woman needs or a woman makes is here. If you don't know the little shop, if you have never seen its infinite variety, this is a good time to visit there.You will find there fresher eggs than the grocer keeps, better cake than the baker sells, finer rag rugs than grandmother ever made, and much, much more wonderful gifts than you could ever make yourself.

"Rag Bee" at Accord.

The latest social event in Accord was a "rag bee" at the home of Mrs.
Henry Devoe on Thursday afternoon and evening. Thirty-five needles were rapidly plied and a large quantity of rags sewed but great care was taken that there was enough left for another "bee." At 6 o'clock the hostess announced dinner, where each of the guests acquainted herself admirably. The menu was as follows: Celery, olives, roast beef with brown gravy, mashed potatoes, fruit salad, coffee, ice cream, angel cake. The evening was spent in singing and games and flashlights were taken of the party. All departed declaring Mrs. Devoe a fine
entertainer.ATOMS, MOLECULES
AND EQUILIBRIUMThese Go to Make War a Natural Phenomenon Says Mr. Kohan Who Agrees With Major Chandler's
Conclusion.

Port Ewen, March 5, 1917.

To the Editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.:I have read in your paper the letter of Major George F. Chandler to Poulitney Bigelow, and fully agree with the major, that war is a natural phenomenon, incident to the struggle for existence of everything in the universe.Even the molecule of matter, which is supposed to be a peaceful creature, is nothing less, nor more than a terrible battlefield of atoms fighting one another to get a place in the sun.Atoms, before their entering into a molecule as its constituent parts, do not possess weight, nor do they carry heat, but instead each of these atoms has then two kinds of motion, notably, rectilinear motion, and rotary motion around its axis perpendicular to the line of its rectilinear motion.When several atoms by their rectilinear motion are getting into contact one with another, a fight is instantaneously being started between two coalitions of forces.
Whilst the forces of the rectilinear motion tend to repel the atoms from the center of the battlefield, that is,
from the center of the molecule-to-be, the forces of the rotary motion, at the same time, tend to bind the atoms one to another, and around and close to the center of the molecule, and thus the fight is going on until the atoms being acted upon by the two adversary coalitions of forces, will adjust themselves on such a distance from the center of the mole-cule, so as to be brought into a state of equilibrium. The atoms thereupon become motionless, but they have lost their energy not for nothing, but they have acquired, instead of their rectilinear motion heat, and instead of their rotary motion—weight.Such is the process of the birth of a molecule of matter.The atoms now do not represent any more live energy, but are dead matter, and they will remain in such a state, until some outside forces, which might be applied to the mole-cule, will disturb their equilibrium.
Thereupon the molecule will again become disintegrated into its atoms;
the heat and the weight of the atoms will be again respectively reconverted into rectilinear and rotary motion, and the dead atoms will thus become again resurrected into live energy.And so it is going on infinitely.
Live energy is being converted into matter, and matter is becoming resurrected into live energy by disturbance of equilibrium.Equilibrium is the motto of the universe.Equilibrium means peace, quietness, but means also death.Disturbance of equilibrium means motion, fight, but also means life.
The great European war has taken place not because the Kaiser wanted
the war, and not because the Prussian junkers were longing to fight,
but because for the last four decades
the equilibrium of the European nations was tottering.Since 1870, the population of the German Empire has increased from 38 to 70 millions, whilst within the same period, the population of France has decreased from 40 to 39 millions, and this fact taken by itself, was sufficient to disturb the equilibrium of the European states.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 6, 1917.

After all the vigorous editorial expression in condemnation of the eleven Senators whose filibuster killed the granting of power to the President to establish armed neutrality through the arming of American merchant ships, it may well be considered whether the attitude of these men was not consistent in every way with the record of the Administration from the Lusitania case down to the present time. As then "he kept us out of war," so now "he kept us out of war," but the reward is not forthcoming. The sentiment of the people of the United States not so many months ago was all in favor of the record of inaction, the dilatory diplomacy, and the succession of notes which marked the Wilson Administration's conduct of the negotiations over the wanton attacks on American honor and American rights, to say nothing of the destruction of American lives in sinking the Lusitania. Today that sentiment has changed, as is shown by the overwhelming majority in congress in favor of the measure whose fate is so lamented by all patriotic Americans. The eclectic eleven, now being so justly and roundly abused, were merely standing pat on the doctrine of keeping us out of war. Scoldom have National politics witnessed so complete a turning of the tables, and all the wit and wisdom of Woodrow Wilson were of no avail as against the firmness of these eleven disciples of his erstwhile teachings.

"There can be no turning back," declared President Wilson, and that truism finds a responsive echo in the hearts of the American people who will also take due measure of joy in the expression: "I know now what the task means." Let us go forward. That is the main meaning of President Wilson's second inaugural address. He does well to emphasize the importance to be placed upon American unity, yet, in spite of all our divisions in theory and our disorders with Berlin, the President has ever been able to turn to a loyal and patriotic people, intent upon upholding the hands of their Chief Magistrate. The test of the last four years has been a living one upon President and people. Both well "know now what the task means." With the knowledge born of experience, the Administration should at once take up the task before it and, convening Congress, endeavor to straighten out the humiliating situation in which a great republic finds itself at the opening of President Wilson's second term.

Where rolls the Oregon there is rolling up a wave of wrath against Senator Harry Lane, one of the eleven United States Senators who figured in the filibuster which killed the Armed Neutrality bill. A recent election is set for June 4, and it will be interesting to watch the outcome of this Judge Lynch legislation in operation. "He kept us out of war," is evidently no longer an effective slogan. It may win the west in the heat of a campaign, but it cannot hold it. Here in New York State, the ending of Senator O'Gorman's incumbency terminates a political career of a few years' duration amid much bitterness on his part in the congressional proceedings of Sunday. Senator O'Gorman was the last Senator to be chosen by the Legislature in New York State. Senator Lane is the product of all those hybrid systems of nomination and election for which Oregon has become famous. To judge the old and the new systems by these two glittering examples finds us groping in the darkness again. The initiative, referendum and the recall fail to show any improvement over the calibre of men chosen by convention systems or legislatures. The people are just beginning to awaken to that fact.

Attempts to regulate the liquor business continue to align the reformers at Albany into different camps. The Governor is insisting (that a law) option measure be passed, the Anti-Saloon League extremists are demanding some sort of a prohibition-by-petition scheme to wipe out the saloons, while the Senate Committee on Taxation urges a bill which cuts all liquor licenses to the basis of one to every 500 in population and increases the excise tax. The prohibitionists are standing pat on their own theories and lending a hand to aid any compromise which appears a step toward realization of their aims. And while all this is going on, the State departments are all of them spending to the limit of their appropriations and more money is necessary to carry on the State government. Until there is real retrenchment in the expenses of administration, local optionists and the "drys" must find some new source of revenue to take the place of the liquor traffic, which is the backbone in the body politic when it comes to raising money. Unless we are prepared to resort to a stamp tax, or some oppressive forms of direct taxation, the hands of the reformers now at work upon the Legislature must be stayed.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"I found Mrs. Smith in when her maid said she was not at home." "So you found her out!"—Baltimore American.
"There's no place like home, you know." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "but home doesn't always pay the salary that Washington does."—Washington Star.

"So Crimmon Quich has returned?" "Yes," replied Three Finger Sam; "nobody plays cards or horse races any more. If you want to gamble you put your money in an envelope and send it on to Wall Street."—Washington Star.
"I'm a victim of de high cost of living, mum." "How is that?" "I wuz demonstratin' a patent potato peeler, mum, an' makin' money, too. Potatoes got so high, de potato I demonstrated wid cost me morn' do peeler."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Getting Even.
A young man and a young woman leaned on the front gate. They were lovers. It was moonlight. He was loath to leave, as the parting was the last. He was about to go away.

"I'll never forget you," he said, "and it death should claim me, my last thought would be of you." "It'll be true to you," she sobbed. "I'll never love anybody else as long as I live." They parted. Six years later he returned. His sweetheart of former years was married. They met at a party. She had changed greatly. Between dances recognition took place.
"Let me see," she mused, "was it you or your brother who was my old sweetheart?"
"No," he said, "it was my father."—New York Times.

The Laveries Won't Cease.
"Do you think you can support my daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed?" asked the girl's father. "I'm afraid not," replied the young man, "but she has assured me that she will not expect me, after we are married, to buy her as many gloves as I have been furnishing her or to take her away from home to get something good to eat every other evening, and she has even consented to quit making it necessary for me to hire a taxi whenever we happen to be within walking distance of the place we are bound for." "Oh, well, if you're going to be disagreeable about it, take her."—Brooklyn Citizen.

Hindoo Formality.
As rats did much damage to his papers the Hindoo clerk in charge of the official documents in one of the more remote Indian towns obtained permission to keep two cats, the larger of them receiving rather better rations. The Buffalo Commercial at Delhi resolved this despatch: "I have the honor to inform you that the senior cat is absent without leave. What shall I do?" To this problem there was, vouchsafed no answer. After waiting a few days the Hindoo sent off a proposal. "In re absentee cat, I propose to promote the junior cat and in the meantime to take late government service a probationer cat on full rations."

ST REMY.
St. Remy, March 5.—The topic of the G. I. next Sunday night will be "Spreading the Good News." (Personal Evangelism). Acts 8, 14-17; John 1, 33-42.

There will be an oyster supper at the Church on Thursday evening, March 15, the proceeds to be towards a piano for the Sunday school room. Every one is invited to come.

Miss Jennie Frost of Kingston visited friends in this place Saturday and Sunday.

J. V. Eckert is very low at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. William Freer are guests of Clarence Freer and family. The funeral of Mrs. O. Smith of New Paltz was held in the Reformed Church last Thursday at 1 p. m. The Rev. J. Mullett had charge of the services.

Miss Delia Lark spent the week-end at High Falls.
Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ellsworth attended the funeral of Edgar Terpening at Ulster Park on Sunday.
Mrs. William Becker has recently had a telephone placed in her home.

STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"They tell me the common council meets tonight," said the friend to the street corner politician.
"You were correctly informed," replied the politician with a smile.
"What will they do with the church-theater proposition?" asked the friend.
"The usual thing," said the politician.
"What's that?" asked the friend.
"Considerable oratory and no action," replied the politician.

"Did the Jefferson Club have any representatives at the doings in Washington Monday?" asked the friend after a pause in the conversation.
"Not officially as far as I know," replied the politician.
"What? Was none of the members there?" queried the friend in surprise.
"There might have been," replied the politician, "but the majority of the leading lights of the club would rather play at home."

"How is that?" asked the friend.
"They would not be given a chance to make a speech," replied the politician.
"What do you mean by that?" queried the friend rather blankly.
"Some of them would rather orate than eat," explained the politician, adding "are you a member of the Clinton Guards?"

"No," replied the friend, "I did not care to be called out to do war duty as I am not as young as I used to be."
"Where did you get that idea that you would be called out for war duty?" asked the politician.
"That's what they all say," explained the friend, "and if you join you may be sent out any time to guard the aqueduct in place of Company M."

"In place of Company M?" queried the politician.
"Sure," replied the friend, "if war is declared Company M will be sent to the front and the Clinton Guards will guard the aqueduct."
"Huh, ha," said the politician.
"What are you laughing at," asked the friend.

"The idea of the Clinton Guards guarding the aqueduct," chuckled the politician.
"Nothing funny about that," replied the friend somewhat indignant.
"The fact is," said the politician soberly somewhat, "that the Clinton Guards is a mere social organization, and stands about as much chance of being called out for war duty as you or I."

"What do you mean," asked the friend.
"The members of the guard are a lot of good fellows who like to get out and drill once a week," explained the politician, "but they have no more right to use the armory for what purpose than any other citizen."
"But they do it," retorted the friend.

"Sure," replied the politician, "and they do a lot of other things in Kingston, too."
"I hope this is the last snow storm of the year," said the friend, changing the subject.
"So do I, but I am afraid it is not," replied the politician.
"How do you figure that out?" asked the friend.

"Simply judging from the weather we had last year at this time," replied the politician.
"What was that?" queried the friend.
"If I remember," said the politician, "we had a snow storm the latter part of March last year, and it kept on raining running across the river on the ice alone in the early part of April."

"Now that you speak of it," replied the friend, "it strikes me you are right."
"Anyway we owe the snow storm a vote of thanks," said the politician.
"How is that," asked the friend.
"They got the snow plow out and when I went to work Monday morning I did not have to plow through 'but walked in the car tracks.'"

"It is handy for those living near the railroad," confessed the friend.
"The great trouble with the car line in the city," confessed the politician, "is the fact that in winter the cars on the Kingston city division do not run through to Kingston Point and if you want to go through it means waiting on the corner until a Colonial car comes along."

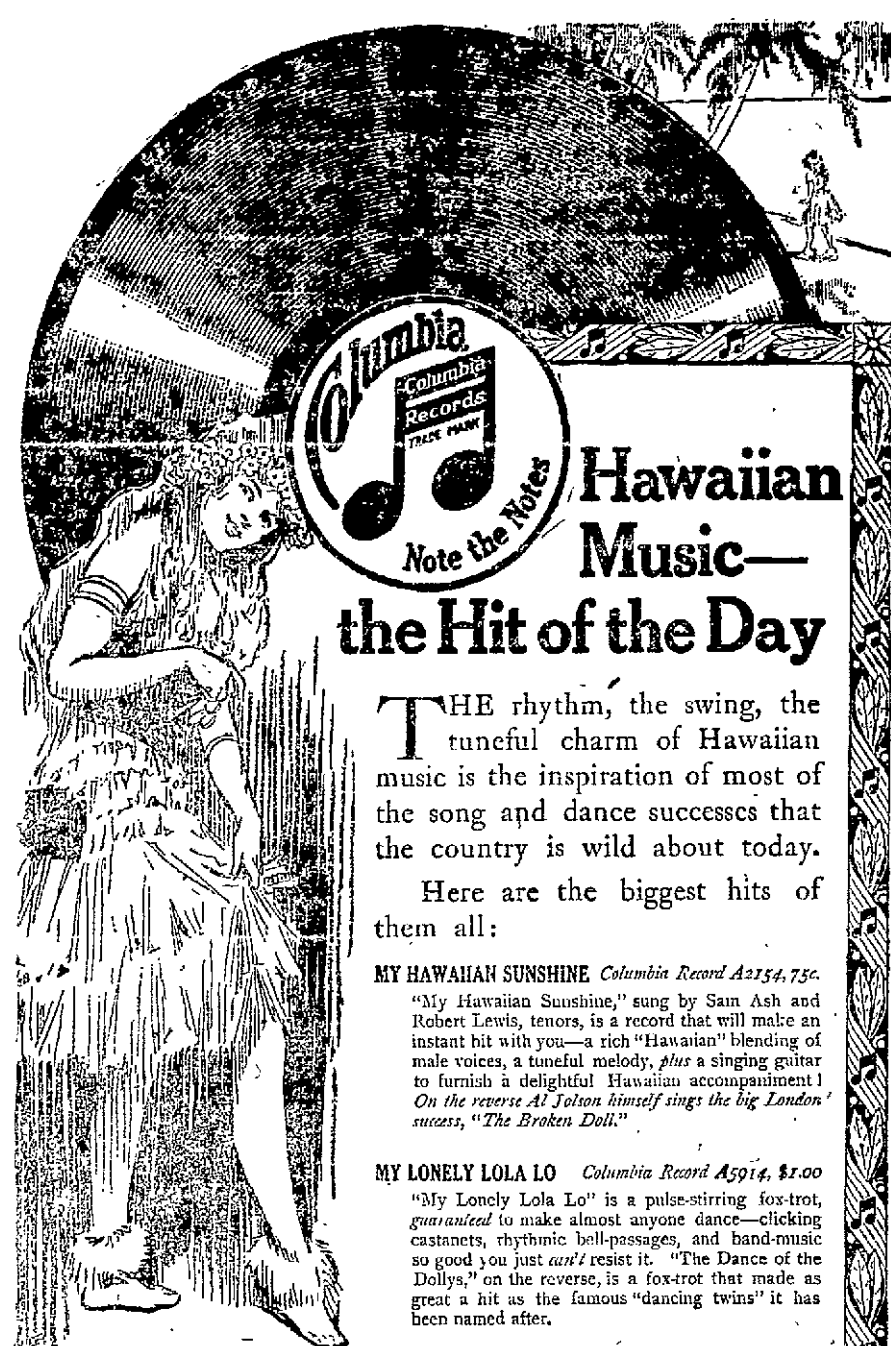

"That's right," said the friend.
"What the city needs," explained the politician, "is a car line running through to the outskirts of the city."
"What outskirts?" queried the friend.
"Well, for instance," said the friend, "it would be a good thing if a car line ran through West Chester district, through Delaware Avenue and that district and out through Foxhall Avenue and the Promised Land."

"Do you think we will ever see it though?" queried the friend.
"About the same time we see the West Shore crossing eliminated," replied the politician.

Hawaiian Music—
the Hit of the Day

THE rhythm, the swing, the tuneful charm of Hawaiian music is the inspiration of most of the song and dance successes that the country is wild about today.

Here are the biggest hits of them all:

MY HAWAIIAN SUNSHINE Columbia Record A2154, 75c.
"My Hawaiian Sunshine," sung by Sam Ash and Robert Lewis, tenors, is a record that will make an instant hit with you—a rich "Hawaiian" blending of male voices, a tuneful melody, plus a singing guitar to furnish a delightful Hawaiian accompaniment! On the reverse Al Tolson himself sings the big London success, "The Broken Doll."

MY LONELY LOLA LO Columbia Record A5914, $1.00
"My Lonely Lola Lo" is a pulse-stirring fox-trot, guaranteed to make almost anyone dance—clicking castanets, rhythmic bell-passages, and band-music so good you just can't resist it. "The Dance of the Dolls," on the reverse, is a fox-trot that made as great a hit as the famous "dancing twins" it has been named after.

YADDIE, KADDIE, KIDDIE, KADDIE, KOO Columbia Record A2152, 75c.
The "real thing" in Hawaiian music, even to the soft guitar accompaniment—a song of Hawaiian landlords and love, sung with infectious gay enthusiasm by the famous Knickerbocker Quartette. On the other side: "Twins Only an Irishman's Dream," splendidly rendered by the famous Empire Trio.

Ask your Columbia dealer to play these and other popular hits—and then you will know why people are buying Columbia Records of popular hits. "Hearing is believing!"

Less time consumed in the actual selling, means more time for personal contact with our friends.
Our shelves hold only standardized lines—products half sold by a name of merit gained by years of service. They cost more to us—in money—but they leave time for the often hurried motorist to request a fog-lifting explanation of that point. That's what we want. To illustrate, consider, MILLER—Geared-to-the-Road TIRES.
Here is an established brand—a product deep-rooted in the regard of thousands of motorists. It is a real pleasure to sell Millers. No arguing—no visions of a scowling, returning face. A quick sale. And the saved time can be devoted to assisting you.

COURT PASSES ON 18 NEW CITIZENS

Thirty-one Applicants Examined by
Supreme Court Justice Rudd and Eleven Are Put Over Term—Many Nationalities Represented.

Eighteen new citizens were "made" before Judge Rudd Monday afternoon when thirty-one applicants for final naturalization papers were examined by A. B. Potts of the U. S. Department of Labor before the court. Eleven of the cases were put over the term in order that new witnesses could be secured in some cases and in other cases so that the applicant could secure more information about our country and government. Two of the applications were denied, one because applicant had been out of the country for nearly a year and came within the five year limit and the other because in filling his papers he gave the address of the place where he was stopping for a visit instead of his real residence. He was told to file new first papers.

Alessandro Tiano of Glascow, an Italian, had been out of the country from November, 1911, until July, 1912, and his application was rejected. John W. Lasher and Stephen Depolpe were his witnesses.

Valentine Volpe, who is unable to bring his wife over while the war is in progress, had his case continued. John W. Lasher and Andrew Kohl were his witnesses.

Giovanni Tammoro's case was also continued as one of his witnesses was absent. Frank DeFree and William L. Warren were his witnesses.

Adalbert Madajowski, born in Germany and a resident of this country since 1904, was admitted. He is married and has five children. He is a resident of Kingston. Witnesses were John Lindhorst and Chris Shurtler.

Joe Kocsis, a Hungarian, seemed to think that the laws of the United States were made in Albany and that the state laws were made in Washington by Mr. Whitman, had his case continued on account of lack of knowledge. Max Greenwald and Joseph A. Cheney were his witnesses.

Louis Lawrence Gendro, who lives at Woodstock and came to America from Switzerland in 1911, was admitted. He is a gardener and for a time was employed at New Brighton, Staten Island. His witnesses were Mrs. Rose DeKorn and Joseph Keller.

Michele Sottile, an Italian, who came to this country in 1910, was admitted. He could write English and read. Had read the constitution and his witnesses, Arthur Olivetti and Palise Marino, were satisfactory.

Hans Clausen, a resident of New Paltz, was also admitted. He was born in Denmark and came to this country in 1905, going back in 1910, and returning to America in 1912. His return to Denmark was to settle up his business and sell his property. Iver Miller and Jans Peterson were his witnesses.

Iver Peterson also a resident of New Paltz, a native of Denmark and a married man with three children, was admitted. His witnesses were the same as Clausen's.

Gesius Lanzafame's case was put over. He is a native of Italy and came here in 1909. He is married. His witnesses were Giuseppe Erona and Frank Biendell.

Gustav Krieger also had his case put over. He is a native of Germany and his family is still in the old country. He was told to bring over his family as soon as the war was over. Fred Richter and Henry Engel were his witnesses.

Joseph Teodorovich had his case put over as Martin Cantine, one of his witnesses, was absent. Louis Kleeber was his other witness.

The cases of Clarence Menegat and Louis Hohl were both put over as one of their witnesses was absent. Their witness was a priest and had been transferred to another parish. Witnesses were Thomas Coleman and Adam Wolf.

Rosario Macarato with William H. Tierney and Andrew J. Cook as witnesses had his case put over.

Hans Carl Wilhelm Meyer, a German was admitted. David Burgevin and Joseph M. Fowler were his witnesses.

Isidore Osep Feldstein had but one of his witnesses present and his case was continued. J. L. Leeper and M. J. Michael were his witnesses.

John A. Larsen, a native of Norway, was admitted. He is employed at West Park, is married and has three children. His witnesses were Lemuel Freer and William C. A. Witt.

Nis Petersen Lundrup, a resident of New Paltz was admitted. He was

HEAVEN BRYAN'S HOME PARKER SAYS

Alton B. Parker on Monday sent the following telegram to William Jennings Bryan at Miami, Fla.:

"If you and your friends, Senator La Follette and your joint followers and sympathizers, had gone to heaven three years ago, Germany would not have attempted to drive the United States from the seas or to conspire with other nations to make war upon her, for we should by now have been well prepared to defend ourselves, nor would you have had occasion to sneak out of Washington upon discovery of the German plot."

"While you can never undo the mischief you have planned, yet if you act quickly you may be able to persuade those now ambitious to become Benedict Arnolds of Congress and to end the shameful scene now being enacted."

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, March 6.—Mrs. Benjamin Faber has returned to her home at Katrine, after a two weeks' sojourn in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Walter Crane, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Alida Galanter, for several days, has been suffering with rheumatism.

Mrs. Harry E. Carr is spending several days in Port Jervis.

Mrs. F. Spencer and children spent the week end at Lake Katrine.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Berger and family of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burgher.

Mr. and Mrs. William Marx spent Monday in Kingston.

There was a good attendance at Sunday school Sunday afternoon.

Miss Ida Brink went to Saugerties on Sunday to attend the funeral of Miss Mari Post.

There will be a play given at the T. X. T. Club in Flatbush on Thursday evening for the benefit of the Flatbush Church. Several from Lake Katrine will participate in it. If stormy that evening it will be held the next fair evening.

This evening "Al Martin's Country Store" will be presented at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall by Hurley talent.

Miss Margery Lauson spent the week end with her mother in Kingston.

Mrs. Graham Parish slipped on the ice on Saturday and injured her back.

Miss Eleanor Shaw and Mabel Munson returned home last week, after spending the greater part of the winter at Nassau. On their journey home, they visited Mrs. Ware at Richmond, Va.

The regular meeting of Ulster County Pomona Grange was held at the Grange Hall on Friday. About 75 were present and listened with much interest to Secretary Giles of the State Grange. He spoke very interestingly on Grange work and topics of state and national interest. Worthy Deputy I. C. Barnes of New Paltz was also present and was welcomed, as he always is, by the members of the Grange assembly.

Joel Brink left yesterday for Albany, where he will attend the sessions of the assembly, of which he is a member.

Mrs. William L. Brink spent a day in Kingston recently.

Miss Lillian Lawson visited her grandmother, Mrs. Emily Sutton, on Sunday.

Mrs. John Ten Broeck visited her mother-in-law, Mrs. Terwilliger, in Kingston, on Saturday and Sunday.

Kenneth Parish, who has been visiting his parents, returned to Springfield, Mass., on Monday, where he has a position in a motorcycle factory.

There will be the usual services at the Grange Hall Sunday evening, conducted by a student from Rutgers College, New Brunswick, who will preach as a candidate for the Flatbush. All are invited.

The regular meeting of Ulster Grange was postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather.

Theodore Brink, who was the guest of Paul Crosby in Cambridge, Mass., on Friday spent Saturday and Sunday in Boston and vicinity, returning home Monday evening.

Miss Sarah Osborn spent a day in Kingston last week.

Clinton Chapter Friday.

The regular meeting of Clinton Chapter O. E. S. will be held on Friday evening of this week, at which time five candidates will be initiated, four ladies and one Master Mason. During the initiation Mrs. C. I. Morris will sing. The reception committee will be "all attention" and look after all who come. The social hour committee has something grand to spring after the meeting, it is an affair where nine young ladies and three gentlemen take part, and their costumes—well if there happens to be a designer or dressmaker in the audience they will certainly copy styles. And now comes the refreshment committee with something they have been planning on for weeks past, and have been looking the city over for a person who has best posted on the making of "It." They have found her in Mrs. Julia C. Van Etten P. M. A. C., and the committee feels that by procuring her services it has found a woman blessed with a gift of making "It" right, and in such a way it will tickle the palates of all those that partake. Will they have enough—that's the cry just now for Clinton Chapter has had a little hard luck of late in the way of "Grub." They figure on 100 attending prepared for 125 to 150 to come—who can figure any different? But this time they expect to have loads of "It" and then some left. All Stars and Master Masons are invited.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, March 6.—The communion of the Lord's Supper was observed at the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. W. H. Moser, received into church by letter thirteen persons. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lauber from Ulster Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bunting and five daughters from Wyoming, Del., and Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Smith, their son, Maner Smith, and father, Jourdan Smith, from Cottekill; three from probation into full membership and six on probation or preparatory as it is now termed. Notwithstanding a stormy morning there was a large congregation present. Rev. George H. Smith assisted the pastor in the communion service.

A large audience greeted "Ducroft" at the high school auditorium Friday evening last under the direction of the Forum. Dr. Ducroft as a musician and novelty entertainer delighted young and old alike. Many of his wonderful features are original.

Saturday evening Miss Helen Brown entertained the "Standard Bearers" at her home on Center street. There were twenty-four members with their president, Miss Wyman, also Mrs. George H. Smith, Mrs. E. E. Count and Mrs. George F. Adams, president. This class of young missionary boys and girls had a very interesting program, which was successfully carried out. The young folks are to assist at a "Curio Tea" to be given in the M. E. Church parlors Tuesday evening, March 13.

Wawarsing Chapter, O. E. S., conferred the Star degree on Monday evening at their rooms in Masonic block. After the degree session a covered dish social followed.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Rist of Kingston spent Sunday at her home on Center street.

Miss Mildred Hill of Pine Hill has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. J. H. Divine.

Mrs. Henry Frost of Accord has been spending the past week with her mother, Mrs. O. H. Hartwig.

Mrs. Trowbridge of Binghamton is visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. Eugene Clark and husband on Canal street.

John C. Johnson has a new six cylinder Buick car.

At the M. E. Sunday school on Sunday, Missionary Sunday was observed under the direction of the president, E. A. Smiley, who gave a most interesting reading on South America, showing up that country to a good advantage from a large map.

The Sunday school arose in a body and sang very heartily "My Country 'Tis of Thee." There were also several beautiful hymns played on the Victrola. Altogether it was an interesting and profitable service.

Mrs. F. S. Cable and daughter, Miss Dorothy of Hinsdale, Ill., are visiting Mrs. A. V. Keeler and other relatives in town.

D. W. Horning, wife and son of New York are visiting Mrs. Horning's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Alford.

Milton N. Terwilliger has traded his Oakland car with the Inavalle Garage for a 1917 model same make.

Maratana Council, 172, D. of P., will confer the adoption degree on Tuesday sleep. Council fees kindled to the 8th sun. Refreshments will be served after quenching of the council fire.

The organizers of the new Ellenville Meat Co. come under the head of the beneficent form of combination the saving made by running two stores instead of five, and buying eat in large quantities being passed on to the customer. The Jacobowitz shop on Canal street has been thoroughly renovated and will be run as the main store of the company. The Bernstein shop on Market street as a "kosher" shop in charge of Mr. Bernstein. Lawrence Levin shop on Main street discontinued as also the Schulman shop in the Aronowicz block. Mr. Levin will be in charge of the Canal street shop. A wagon will be run by Morris Papier. Sam Jacobowitz will be local buyer and B. Schulman will be buyer for the company. H. Rosenberg is the general secretary of the company. Business opened for the public on Monday.

M. B. Weasmer, while in New York city last week attending the horse show at Madison Square Garden, purchased three thoroughbred colts, two yearling colts and one three year old, and had them shipped to his farm at Faintekill, where they arrived safe and sound.

Milton N. Terwilliger has purchased the fine Jersey cow from the Eastgate estate at the Scoresby place.

Miss Myra Dixon of Montella is visiting Mrs. B. H. Terwilliger on Center street.

Rev. C. B. Gruver of Albany occupied the pulpit of the Lutheran Church on Sunday morning and evening.

Mrs. Ulster Palmer entertained the members of the Sewing Circle of the Lutheran Church at her home on South Market street this Tuesday afternoon.

The Holy Name Society and the Queen's Daughters received holy communion in a body at St. Mary's Church Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. Friday evening Lenten devotions, consisting of Stations or Way of the Cross and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament at 7:30 o'clock.

The illustrated lecture at the Methodist Episcopal Church Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock will be Longfellow's "Evangeline." These lectures are well attended and enjoyed. Much credit is due the pastor, Rev. W. H. Moser, for making them a success. The young people of the village are unusually interested in the well chosen subjects.

The "Skins Club" young ladies and young gentlemen gave a very progressive party Saturday evening, starting at the home of one of the club's popular members, Jansen K. Hoonbeek, on Childs street.

The Woman's Club held their meeting at the home of Mrs. H. C. Derby on Center street, Monday afternoon. The subject was "Russia." Mrs. W. P. Harris read an interesting paper on the geography of that country.

Mrs. R. E. Cookinham gave a most excellent paper on the history of the country and of its people. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, there was a large attendance of the lady members.

The regular monthly meeting of the official board of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held at the church Tuesday evening.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Stone Ridge, March 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Ward Christiana entertained a number of their friends Tuesday evening, February 27, 1917. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Corbush and son, Harry, Mrs. Wilson of Jersey City and daughter, Mrs. Liska of Massachusetts, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winchell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Demark, Mr. and Mrs. William Roosa and son, Elmer, Jason Roosa and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hazzie Roosa and family. The evening was spent with some selections on the piano by Mrs. Christiana; also some fine solos by Mrs. Liska of Massachusetts, which made every one feel jolly. At 12 o'clock refreshments of sandwiches and ice cream, cake and cocoa were served by Mrs. Christiana which were enjoyed by all, after which they all sang a few selections. They departed for their homes voting Mr. and Mrs. Christiana royal entertainers.

Monday Club.

The Monday Club met this week with Mrs. Everett Fowler at her home on Maiden Lane. There was a good attendance in spite of the storm. Mrs. DeWitt Roosa had the paper for the day, the subject, "Shakespeare, the Immortal," being especially well presented. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Ogden Winne.

Soiskanishade Club.

The Soiskanishade Club met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen at her home on John street. The roll call consisted of a review of the "American Authors" already studied. Mrs. George Styles, Jr., had the main paper for the day, on the topic, "Famous Masterpieces by American Authors." Mrs. Styles gave an exceedingly interesting, though brief biographical sketch of the authors of the text in this country, past and present, and then gave, entertainingly, an outline of their most noted works, in an edifying and informing manner. In place of the short paper, a parliamentary drill was held. Mrs. Case of the high school senior class, spoke of the coming lecture by Dr. Crowthers of Cambridge and greatly interested the members therein. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Vernon Hull at her home, No. 204 Main street.

To Aid Sunshine Society Work.

On Saturday afternoon of this week, the Sunshine Society will give an afternoon tea, in the interest of their work at Wiltwyet Inn, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Sherbet and cake will be served and a delightful social afternoon assured all who attend. Moreover, those attending will be giving material and valued aid to this organization, which under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. Scott Gillespie, has done so much for the old people and widows with children in the community, who have needed a helping hand. Through the generosity of Kingstonians, and the efficient work of the society, they have been able to accomplish much lasting good this winter, for their funds have been sufficient to keep up the work of helping with rents, milk, delicacies and clothing, thus far. Much of this work, must however, be carried on during the spring and summer, and in order to have sufficient funds for this work, the tea will be held on Saturday afternoon, and the public is cordially invited to be present and help swell this fund for kindness.

ROTARY "CHANDLER DAY."

Major to be Guest of Fellow Rotarians at Luncheon.

The weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club at the West Shore hotel on Wednesday noon will be "Chandler Day" in honor of Major George F. Chandler, whose recent return from border duty will be appropriately celebrated. Chorister Harry P. Dodge is in charge of the musical program and Major Chandler will tell the Rotarians something of his experiences. A large attendance is expected. The luncheon hour will be the same as heretofore, 12:15 o'clock.

Take This Any Way.

You would not allow another man to snub you, to be discourteous to you, without resenting it. Neither will the other fellow permit you to treat him shabbily without letting you know what he thinks of it. Some days you feel cross, cranky and irritable. And did it ever occur to you that on these very days you seem to see others as others seem to see you? Did it ever occur to you that others are bound to treat you as you treat them? Take this any way you want to, but take it.—Silent Partner.

His Needs.

"If you please, mamma," asked Clarence, aged ten, "will you kindly lend me a pencil?"

"But," said mamma, "I left a pen and ink for you to do your lessons with on the nursery table. Why don't you use those instead of a pencil?"

"Well, you see," Clarence explained, "I want a pencil to write and ask the editor how to remove ink stains from a carpet."—Pearson's Weekly.

Domestic Cares.

"A man should take an interest in his home."

"Yes," replied Mr. Meekton, "but he shouldn't devote too much of his life to being keeper of the canary bird and custodian of the rubber tree."—Washington Star.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Prof. Clyde Van Steenburgh's dancing class will meet in Pythian Hall, Kingston, Friday evening. Private lessons from 6:15 until 7:20; class lessons from 7:30 until 9; assembly from 9 until 12 o'clock.

By La Raconteuse.

Much attention is given to the sets which serve as finishing touches to the summer outfit, including hat, parasol and bag. Quite an interesting development is shown in the set illustrated, where the fashionable hooded bag in Roman stripe serves as an inspiration for this striped bag, with hat to match. The colors are rose, tan, brown and white, and beautifully blended together.

"HAWK" HOLKE
"HAWK" HOLKE IN ACTION AT GIANTS' SPRING CAMP.

By La Raconteuse.

While there is nothing severe or tailored about this fetching frock there are tendencies that would indicate that inspiration was obtained from military costumes worn at the present time. This "slip-on" smock coat, the trim vest with its row of buttons and the turned down soft collar all tend to give a military air to this gray-blue frock.

Unhappy in Friendship.

Many people expect too much from their friends. They say themselves be so thoroughly genuine and sincere that they expect all their friends to be the same, and when they discover little faults in their idols they feel the disappointment most acutely. Do not pitch your standard too high, then you are less likely to have your idol shattered. Try to remember that friends will never disappoint us if we observe two simple rules: (1) to find out what they are; (2) to expect them to be just that.

Proud.

"Who is that beautiful girl over there?"

"She's the daughter of a corporation lawyer. But keep it from her, old man. She is sensitive and has been brought up in ignorance of the fact!"—Life.

Pretty Busy.

"What do you think of this old world anyway?"

"I haven't time to think. Six children, house rent and the grocery bill take up all my spare time."—Detroit Free Press.

APPARATUS GOES TO
BRITISH OWNERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, March 6.—The British steamer Appam brought into Hampton Roads over a year ago as a German prize, was held to be the property of her British owners by the supreme court in a decision today. Justice Day, in handing down the opinion said: "The Germans had followed neither of the normal courses; to take her to a German port, or to the nearest neutral port, but had taken her thousands of miles across the seas in order to place her in an American port."

Pageant at Baptist Church.
The Foreign Missionary Society of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church is preparing to give a most elaborate pageant at the church on the evening of Friday, March 16. This pageant, called "The Passing of the Nations," will include some 80 performers, and will be founded upon historic fact and carried out with all the necessary pomp and ceremony and elaboration of costume, etc.

ADVERTISEMENT WRITING.
UNWIRE advertising economy is an acquired habit with many merchants, and when the habit is continued, it is a matter of course to believe that each time they blackjack a dollar and lay it away on ice, with drawing it from their advertising expenditures, they have done wisely. Really, such business men are short-changing themselves. Well written advertisements are business getters. The other kind won't do at all. Let me write you ads with "pop and punch." George M. Zeilner, care of Kingston Freeman.

Charles Rappelyea, a former Catskillian, who for some time past has been employed at the Hotel Sturgesant in Kingston, was in Catskill Sunday calling on his son, Lyman. Mr. Rappelyea was on his way to Mechanicsville to assume charge of a hostelry in that place.—Catskill Mail.

Urbain Hamburger, one of the best known residents of this city, died suddenly at his home, No. 249 West Chestnut street, shortly after 10 o'clock Monday evening. Mr. Hamburger had appeared to be in the best of health and Sunday he attended service at St. Mary's Church, where he was long an active member, and on Monday had attended to his duties with the Consolidated Rosendale Cement Company. That evening he retired about 9 o'clock for the night, but about 10 o'clock, when he completed his usual evening work, he died shortly afterward before anything could be done to aid him. Mr. Hamburger was born in Covington, Ky., in 1843. He was completing his studies in the public schools there about the time the Civil War began, and he immediately enlisted in the 22nd Regiment of Indiana, serving four years in the defense of his country. He then engaged in cotton raising in Tennessee and Arkansas for about three years, but lost all he had through the floods in that section. In 1868 he came to Rondout and engaged with the Rondout & Oswego Railroad—now the U. & D. R.—in building bridges over the Esopus creek, between Rondout and Stamford. In 1877 his services were secured by the D. & H. Canal Company, with whom he remained for twenty-five years constructing bridges and piers. In recent years he had been superintendent of the boatyards for the Consolidated Rosendale Cement Company. Mr. Hamburger was also active in political life and for fourteen years he served as alderman of the Seventh ward, and was president of the common council one term. He was an active member of St. Mary's Church and always took an active part in the civic and religious life of the city. He was a charter member of the G. A. R. In 1861 he married Miss Josephine R. Rondout. He is survived by his widow and five children, George of New York city, Harry of New Haven, Conn., Mrs. Nellie Freeland of New York city, Miss Mary Hamburger, manager of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, and Miss Loretta Hamburger. One brother, George, living in Indiana, and one sister, Mrs. Frances Gerlack of California, also survive.

Ursula, wife of John Burroughs, died at the home at West Park this morning after a long and painful illness, which she bore with great patience. She passed her eighty-first birthday, January 3rd. She was formerly Ursula North, of Tongone, and was married to Mr. Burroughs nearly sixty years ago. Neither of them, suspected at the time that he would attain a world-wide reputation. To her, the home was woman's throne, and right royally did she reign there. Happy indeed were those welcomed there; and whether it was the president of the United States or some humble person, they realized that Mrs. Burroughs was equal to the occasion. Her domestic tastes well supplemented the literary tastes of the husband and no one will ever know how much credit is due to her. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in early life, and died in its communion, being for many years a member of the church at Esopus. At her request, a former pastor, Rev. P. N. Chase, Ph.D., will conduct the funeral services at her late residence, Riverby, West Park, Thursday at 11 a. m. The remains will be placed in the receiving vault in Wiltwyck cemetery until the interment takes place at Tongone. Mrs. Burroughs is survived by her husband and one son, Julian Burroughs of West Park; also by one sister, Amanda North of Cohoes. Mr. and Mrs. Burroughs both became seriously ill in January, 1916, while visiting friends in Georgia, and it was not until mid-April that Mrs. Burroughs was able to make the journey home. Since that time she had been in precarious condition, but it has only been for a few days past that death seemed imminent. Mrs. Burroughs was a strong physique, and of remarkable physical and mental vigor for one of her advanced years until her comparatively recent illness. She was a woman of marked individuality, possessing great decision and determination, and many sterling traits of character. Her tastes were simple, she shunned publicity, and found her chief pleasure in "the trivial round, the common task" of a quiet domesticity.

Children at Tuberculosis Hospital.

There are now 23 patients at the Tuberculosis Hospital, this number including a little family of mother, 8 months' old baby, 4 year old boy, 6 year old girl and 8 year old girl. While the mother is a patient in a more advanced stage, the children are all infected, and it is hoped that all may, by care and proper treatment, be saved. As the hospital has not made any provision for such little folks, gifts of suitable clothing, especially shoes, would be most acceptable, especially for the three older children, and good warm clothing that will enable them all to be comfortable in the open air of our wintry March in this climate. During the past month the following friends have remembered the hospital in generous fashion as follows: Mrs. C. Keator, coffee and magazines; the family of Mrs. Lillian Rodie, cut flowers; Y. M. C. A., Jello; Mrs. George Washburn, half dozen sheets; Miss Forsyth, old linen, two women's coats and magazines; Mrs. J. F. Johnson, old linen; Stuyvesant Barber Shop, magazines; Junior Order American Mechanics, large American flag and flag pole; family of Mrs. S. Johnston, flowers; Miss Mamie Lange, old linen and Jello. There is as always the usual need of old linen or muslin or cheese cloth.

BASEBALL AWAITS TOUGH OF SPRING

K. H. S. Team Already Warming-up in Anticipation of Arrival of Bluebirds—Candidates Out for "Cage Practice."

Though it's a long while before the robins start chirping in the cherry trees and the lots become anywhere near navigable for baseball purposes, the youthful mind is already turning to its favorite sport, especially at the high school. Baseballers under the guidance of Captain "Bill" McAuliffe started last Friday with "cage practice" in the gym, several aspirants for the battery jobs warming up.

Until the snow disappears and the athletic field is ready for habitation, the drill of candidates for pitcher and catcher will take place several times a week indoors, thus getting a good start by having men pretty well trained for these important jobs. The whole flock of hopefuls will probably be turned loose for the first sorting out around Easter time and there seems to be some good timber about the school. Besides last year's star pitcher, Captain "Bill" Miles, who pitched for the Midgets last season unknocked his arm a little Friday. The catchers out were Bill Wilson, Dolson and Hallinan, all of whom showed up well. Muller, an aspirant for the catcher's bunk on the Midget team, was also out.

Even though graduation and various other circumstances depleted the ranks of last year's veterans to a great extent, McAuliffe is confident that there is enough material in school from last year's subs, from the Midgets and perhaps from the grammar school graduates to turn out quite a worthy nine. "Bill," like all his mates in the school sporting world, has the love of athletic supremacy pretty well imbedded in him, and will try to repeat last year's record.

The business end of the game is as important as any and Aubrey Armit is manager there need be little worry about a good, well balanced schedule, including best teams hereabouts. Already he has booked contests with Troy, Albany, Poughkeepsie, Raymond, Reardon School and Catskill, the last named to be the first opponent on April 21.

"My Travels in China"

A paper entitled "My Travels in China" was read before the Metropolitan Association of this city on Monday by the Rev. Elmer Bohne-Echolt of Phoenixia, and was of more than passing interest. The industrial, social and religious customs of the people were very clearly brought out. The physical and climatical features were described in a way that showed the alertness of the one who had made the tour. Mission work and mission workers were ably discussed. In fact, the entire paper showed a keen observation and clear grasp of conditions and people. It is the hope of the association that it may be favored with other papers by this man who has enjoyed such unusual opportunities and made such good use of them.

COMMITMENT ONLY SHOWS AUTHORITY

Detailed Statement of Alleged Crime Not Necessary Says Judge Jenkins in Opinion Denying Habeas Corpus Writ to Counsel for Saugerties Man.

That the commitment of Augustine Caruso of Saugerties by Justice of the Peace Chidester to await grand jury action on a charge of gun-toting, is sufficient was the decision of County Judge Jenkins on Monday and a memorandum of the opinion handed down by the court follows:

The defendant is held under a commitment of W. M. Chidester, Esq., Justice of the peace of the town of Saugerties to await the action of the grand jury. He is charged with carrying a concealed weapon, to wit, a revolver, in violation of Section 1397 of the penal law of the state of New York. The sufficiency of the commitment is attacked by the contention that the offense charged is not sufficiently described. The Code of Criminal Procedure prescribes a form, and in brackets where the nature of the crime is to be stated, states as follows, ("stating briefly the nature of the crime.")

The relator says that the commitment in this case is defective in that it does not comply with this provision of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and relies upon People ex rel, Allen, vs. Hagan, 170 N. Y. 45, that commitment charged the defendant with a violation of Section 351 of the penal code. That section related to gambling and defined fourteen offenses, some of which were felonies, some misdemeanors and some civil offenses, the violation of which incurred penalties. Some of these were grand jury cases, others were not. Clearly the commitment should show whether the offense charged was one to be heard by a grand jury or not. The commitment in the Hagan case did not show whether the offense was a grand jury case or not; the commitment in this case does show that the offense is one properly to be heard by a grand jury.

There is nothing in the office which a commitment is designed to perform requiring a detail statement of the circumstances attending the commission of a crime. It is intended merely as a protection to the officer executing it and as showing the authority upon which he restrains the accused prisoner of his liberty.

People v. Johnson, 110 N. Y. 142. It is quite evident that this defendant had in his possession a dangerous weapon, to wit, a revolver in the town of Saugerties at the time charged, and that he threatened to use it against another. The charge was made against him and such proceedings have been had, that he is now in the county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury. He cannot be discharged upon any technical defect without departing from the direction laid down by Section 684 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, which is comprehensive and in the following words, "Neither a departure from the form or mode prescribed by this code in respect to any proceedings or proceedings, nor an error or mistake therein, renders it invalid, unless it have actually prejudiced the defendant, or tends to his prejudice in respect to a substantial right."

For the reasons stated the writ of habeas corpus is dismissed and the defendant remanded to the custody of the sheriff of the county of Ulster under the commitment of the justice of the peace.

DANIEL WILLARD, WILLARD SELECTED TO HEAD INDUSTRIAL WAR COUNCIL.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, who, according to Washington dispatches, has been tentatively selected to head the transportation division of the proposed war council, to be composed of President Wilson, members of his cabinet, military men and a large number of railroad officials, industrial and scientific experts. The war council probably would include the present National Council of Defense, the Naval Advisory Board of Inventors and the greatest gathering of great scientists for such a purpose in the history of the world. Samuel Gompers also would be a member, to handle the problem of providing labor to meet the military and industrial needs of the country in the event of war.

Every Man Likes Coconut Pie

You can't serve it too often. It is a big favorite among desserts. You will never know the swiftness and ease with which a coconut pie can be made until you use Baker's Fresh Grated Coconut. No trouble—no mussy work of cracking the shell—no bruising your fingers—no tedious grating of the meat! All grated and ready for use the moment the can is open—as sweet, moist and tempting as if a fresh coconut had dropped from the tree into your hand. Remember, it is fresh, not desiccated.

American Mineral Oil

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Use of Mineral Oil.

Dr. Le Tanneur contributes to the Paris Medical some practical points in the use of mineral oil in constipation. The oil, he says, is in no way digested or even modified by the juices of the stomach and intestines. It acts as a lubricant and nothing else, though it tends to heal abrasions of the intestinal wall caused by rough particles of food.

The New York Medical Journal says mineral oil should be taken either before breakfast or after dinner, two tablespoonfuls being a dose. Its use should be continued every day for at least a fortnight, when the bowels will continue to work naturally without it, for the mineral oil is in no sense a cathartic, but it will cure constipation.—Kingston Daily Freeman, February 17, 1917.

LENTEN SALE OF UNUSUAL THINGS

(Reported for The Freeman in "Vogue" style by a special "Rogue" reporter.)

I have never seen the little shop at Number one Main street so attractive as it is just now with its unusual assortment of Easter gifts and Spring novelties. A peep into the window tempted me to enter for a more detailed investigation.

An assortment of Chinese embroideries offers a rare opportunity for the woman who wants to buy something decidedly out of the ordinary. These lovely things are on view at the Exchange for a short time only, and will not be sold here again.

The exquisite oriental embroideries on the daintiest of linen make lunch cloths, napkins and dinner cloths too beautiful for words.

A bedspread in this collection draws the eye of the discerning woman. You can't get these things or even see them after the fifteenth of the month.

I saw quite a few of the little "rest pillows" now so smart in the bedroom of the modern woman. Vogue calls them "Sweetheart pillows." Some have the nainsook covers embroidered and others are made with fillet lace insertions and edging.

The word fillet reminds me of the new fillet nightgowns that are now so very modish. These are found in numberless designs in the little shop, and a clever girl can buy one of these yokes and construct her own de nuit or chemise herself. They make a charming gift for a trousseau chest.

It is a far cry from finger to the Paisley shawl, but I must not fail to mention that there are two of these much sought after articles at the Exchange. At a price too, that compares absurdly with the same charged in New York. If you want an old Paisley, by all means ask to see these.

It seems that every woman in New York whether she be in street, afternoon or evening dress, carries on her arm a bag. Bags of silk ribbon, of satin or of velvet, distinguished by embroidery or beading. Everyone seems to have gone bag-mad in New York, and in Kingston too, for our smart women here echo the Metropolitan styles to the smallest detail.

Whatever sort of a bag you want, you will find it at the Exchange, not factory made, but bearing the subtle touch of a gentleman's handiwork.

Miss Noyes cannot put the pretty pink and blue baby things in the window. They are so delectable that the sun fairly eats them up. They are all hidden away in boxes for those to see who ask for them, and to see is to buy. You won't be able to resist them. The Exchange is the place for you.

Do you know what Hardanger embroidery is? If not, lose no time in finding out. It is lovely. You will find it here in all its beauty. For the table it is stunning, and much newer than anything else in table linen. I was also taken with the many different embroidered pieces known as "between cloths." These are for use on the dining table between meals. The ones on exhibition are embroidered in dull blues or brilliant yellows are particularly effective. Whatever the color scheme of your dining room, you can find at the Exchange a "between cloth" which will make your table distinctive and elegant.

These items have been chosen at random from the varied stock at the Woman's Exchange. Every thing else a woman needs or a woman makes is here. If you don't know the little shop, if you have never seen its infinite variety, this is a good time to visit there.

You will find there fresher eggs than the grocer keeps, better cake than the baker sells, finer rag rugs than grandmother ever made, and much, much more wonderful gifts than you could ever make yourself.

(Signed)

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Weeks of Prattville are visiting their parents in this place, after which they will move to Stone Ridge, where they have bought a farm.

The Ashokan Amusement Hall burned to the ground Friday morning at 4:30 o'clock.

"Rag Bee" at Accord.

The latest social event in Accord was a "rag bee" at the home of Mrs. Henry DeVoe on Thursday afternoon and evening. Thirty-five needles were rapidly piled and a large quantity of rags sewed but great care was taken that there was enough left for another "bee." At 6 o'clock the hostess announced dinner, where each of the guests acquitted herself admirably. The menu was as follows: Celery, olives, roast pig with brown gravy, mashed potatoes, fruit salad, coffee, ice cream, angel cake. The evening was spent in singing and games and flashlights were taken of the party. All departed declaring Mrs. DeVoe a fine entertainer.

ATOMS, MOLECULES AND EQUILIBRIUM

These Go to Make War a Natural Phenomenon Says Mr. Kohan Who Agrees With Major Chandler's Conclusion.

Port Ewen, March 5, 1917.

To the Editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.:

I have read in your paper the letter of Major George F. Chandler to Pauline Bigelow, and fully agree with the major, that war is a natural phenomenon, incident to the struggle for existence of everything in the universe.

Even the molecule of matter, which is supposed to be a peaceful creature, is nothing less, nor more than a terrible battlefield of atoms fighting one another to get a place in the sun.

Atoms, before their entering into a molecule as its constituent parts, do not possess weight, nor do they carry heat, but instead each of these atoms has then two kinds of motion, notably, rectilinear motion, and rotary motion around its axis perpendicular to the line of its rectilinear motion.

When several atoms by their rectilinear motion are getting into contact one with another, a fight is instantaneously being started between two coalitions of forces. Whilst the forces of the rectilinear motion tend to repel the atoms from the center of the battlefield, that is, from the center of the molecule-to-be, the forces of the rotary motion, at the same time, tend to bind the atoms one to another, and around and close to the center of the molecule, and thus the fight is going on until the atoms being acted upon by the two adversary coalitions of forces, will adjust themselves on such a distance from the center of the molecule, so as to be brought into a state of equilibrium. The atoms thereupon become motionless, but they have lost their energy not for nothing, but they have acquired, instead of their rectilinear motion—heat, and instead of their rotary motion—weight.

Such is the process of the birth of a molecule of matter.

The atoms now do not represent any more live energy, but are dead matter, and they will remain in such a state, until some outside force, which might be applied to the molecule, will disturb their equilibrium. Thereupon the molecule will again become disintegrated into its atoms; the heat and the weight of the atoms will be again respectively converted into rectilinear and rotary motion, and the dead atoms will thus become again resurrected into live energy.

And so it is going on infinitely. Live energy is being converted into matter, and matter is becoming resurrected into live energy by disturbance of equilibrium.

Equilibrium is the motto of the universe. Equilibrium means peace, quietness, but means also death.

The great European war has taken place not because the Kaiser wanted the war, and not because the Prussian junkers were longing to fight, but because for the last four decades the equilibrium of the European nations was tottering.

Since 1870, the population of the German Empire has increased from 38 to 70 millions, whilst within the same period, the population of France has decreased from 40 to 39 millions, and this fact taken by itself, was sufficient to disturb the equilibrium of the European states.

COURT PASSES ON 18 NEW CITIZENS

Thirty-one Applicants Examined by
Supreme Court Justice Rudd and Seven A. P. M. Over Term—Many Citizenship Represented

Eighteen new citizens were made before Judge Rudd Monday afternoon when thirty-one applicants for naturalization papers were examined by A. B. Polk of the U. S. Department of Labor before the court. Eleven of the cases were put over the term in order that new witnesses could be secured in some cases and in other cases so that the applicant could secure more information about our country and government. Two of the applications were denied one because applicant had been out of the country for nearly a year and came within the naturalization law and the other because in filing his papers he gave the address of the place where he was stopping for a visit instead of his residence. He was told to file his new first papers.

Alessandro Tiano of Glenside, Italian, had been out of the country from November 1911 until July 1916 and his application was rejected. John W. Lusher and Stephen Dupelle were his witnesses.

Auntie Volpe who is unable to bring his wife over while the war is in progress had his case continued. John W. Lusher and Andrew Kohl were his witnesses.

Giovanni Pannunzio, 41, was admitted as one of his witnesses was Albert Frank Decker and William L. Warren were his witnesses.

Adalbert Medley, 41, born in Germany and a resident of the country since 1901, was admitted. He is married and has five children. His witnesses were John Lindhorst and Chris Shurtz.

Joe Loeis, a Hungarian, seemed to think that the laws of the United States were made in Mexico and that the state laws were made in Washington by Mr. Whitman. He had his case continued on account of lack of knowledge. His witnesses were Joseph A. Chorney and his wife.

William C. Anderson, who lives in Woodstock and came to America in 1911, was admitted. He is a gardener and for a time was employed at New Brighton, Staten Island. His witnesses were Mrs. Rose Bekorn and Joseph Keller.

Michael Sattler, an Italian who came to this country in 1910, was admitted. He could write English and read the constitution and his witnesses were Arthur G. Hill and Edith Manno were his witnesses.

Thos. Egan, a resident of New Jersey, was also admitted. He was born in Denmark and came to this country in 1908, going back to 1910 and coming to America in 1911. His return to Denmark was to settle.

Mr. Miller and Mrs. Egan were his witnesses.

Mr. Peterson also a resident of New Jersey, a native of Denmark and married with three children, was admitted. His witnesses were James S. C. Jones.

George L. Lawrence, a case was put over. He is a native of Italy and came here in 1909. He is married and his witnesses were Eugene L. L. and Frank B. Decker.

George L. Lawrence also had his case put over. He is a native of Germany and his family is still in the old country. He was told to bring a wife and his family to the war was over. His witnesses were Fred L. L. and Henry L. L.

Joseph Teodorovich had his case put over. He is a native of Russia and his family was absent. His witnesses were his wife and children.

The cases of Clarence Muehl and Louis Muehl were both put over. Their witnesses were present and in the afternoon to another public hearing were written Thomas Coleman and John Wolf.

Robert M. Manno with William L. L. and Andrew J. Cook in cases, had his case put over.

Thos. Egan with Mrs. A. C. Egan was admitted. David Lusher and Joseph M. Foster were his witnesses.

Robert, Osep Polstein had but one witness present and his case was continued. T. L. L. and M. Michael were his witnesses.

John A. Larsen, a native of Norway, was admitted. He is employed at West Park is married and has three children. His witnesses were Emanuel Green and William C. A.

Mr. Petersen Lundrup, a resident of New York, was admitted. He was

Alton B. Parker on Monday sent the following telegram to William Jennings Bryan at Miami, Fla.

If you and your friends Senator La Follette and your joint followers and sympathizers had gone to heaven three years ago, Germany would not have attempted to drive the United States from the seas or to conspire with other nations to make war upon her for we should have been well prepared to defend ourselves nor would you have had occasion to sneak out of Washington upon discovery of the German plot.

While you can never undo the mischief you have planned yet if you act quickly you may be able to persuade those now anxious to become Benedict Arnolds of Congress and to end the shameful scene now being enacted.

SOCIETY NOTES

Stone Ridge, March 6—Mr. and Mrs. Ward Christiana entertained a number of their friends Tuesday evening, February 27, 1917. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Corbush and son, Harry Wilson of Jersey City and daughter, Mrs. Liska of Massachusetts Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winchell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Denmark Mr. and Mrs. William Roosa and son Elmer, Jason Roosa and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hattie Roosa and family.

The evening was spent with some selections on the piano by Mrs. Liska of Massachusetts which made every one feel jolly.

At 12 o'clock refreshments of sandwiches and ice cream cake and corn were served by Mrs. Christiana which were enjoyed by all after which they sang a few selections. They departed for their homes voting Mr. and Mrs. Christiana royal entertainers.

Monday Club

The Monday Club met this week with Mrs. Everett Fowler at her home on Maiden Lane. There was a good attendance in spite of the storm. Mrs. DeWalt Roosa had the paper for the day, the subject Shakespeare's "The Tempest" being especially well presented. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Ogden W. Wane.

Bookishness Club

The Bookishness Club met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Van Wagoner at her home on John street. The roll call consisted of a review of the American Author already studied. Mrs. George Stiver Jr. had the main paper on the day on the topic "Famous Masterpieces by American Authors." Mrs. Stiver gave an exceedingly interesting though brief biographical sketch of the authors of note in this country past and present and then gave an outline of their most noted works in editing and in forming manner. In place of the short paper a parliamentary drill was held. Mrs. Case of the high school senior class spoke of the coming lecture by Dr. Crothers of Cambridge and graciously introduced the members there. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Vernon Hill at her home No. 204 Main street.

In Aid of Sunshine Society Work

On Saturday afternoon of this week the Sunshine Society will give an afternoon tea in the interest of their work at Willard Inn from 2 to 4 o'clock. Sheet cake and cake will be served and a delightful social afternoon assured all who attend. Moreover the attendees will be giving material and valued aid to this organization which under the chairmanship of Mrs. V. Scott Gillespie has done so much for the old people and widows with children in the community who have needed a helping hand. Through the generosity of Kingstonians and the efforts of the society they have been able to accomplish much lasting good this winter for their friends.

Have been sufficient to keep up the work of helping with some milk deliveries and clothing thus far. Much of this work must however be carried on during the spring and summer and in order to have sufficient funds for this work the tea will be held on Saturday afternoon and the public is cordially invited to be present and help swell this fund for kindness.

ROTARY CHANDLER DAY

Major to be Guest of Fellow Rotarians at Luncheon

The weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club at the West Shore hotel on Wednesday noon will be Chandler Day in honor of Major George P. Chandler whose recent return from border duty will be appropriately celebrated. Chandler, Henry P. Dodge is in charge of the musical program and Major Chandler will tell the Rotarians something of his experiences. A large attendance is expected. The luncheon hour will be the same as heretofore 12 to 1 o'clock.

Take This Any Way

You would not allow another man to snub you to be discourteous to you without resenting it. Neither will the other fellow permit you to treat him shabbily without letting you know what he thinks of it. Some days you feel cross crank and irritable. And did it ever occur to you that on these days you seem to see others as others seem to see you? Did it ever occur to you that others are bound to treat you as you treat them? Take this any way you want to but take it.

His Needs

If you please mamma asked Clarence aged ten will you kindly lend me a pencil?

But said mamma I left a pen and ink for you to do your lessons with on the nursery table. Why don't you use those instead of a pencil?

Well you see Clarence explained I want a pencil to write and ask the editor how to remove ink stains from a carpet. —Pearson's Weekly

By La Raconteuse

Much attention is given to the sets which serve as finishing touches to the summer outfit, including hat, parasol and bag. Quite an interesting development is shown in the set illustrated, where the fashionable loaded bag in Roman stripe serves as an inspiration for this unique bag with hat to match. The colors are rose, tan brown and white and beautifully blended together.

HAWK HOLKE

HAWK HOLKE IN ACTION AT GRASS SPRING CAMP

(Hawk Holke)

By La Raconteuse

While there is nothing severe or tailored about this fetching frock there are tendencies that would indicate that inspiration was obtained from military costumes worn at the present time. The 'salmon' smock coat the trim vest with its row of buttons and the turned down collar all tend to give a military air to this gray-blue frock.

Unhappy in Friendship

Many people expect too much from their friends. They pay themselves to be thoroughly genuine and sincere that they expect all their friends to be the same and when they discover little faults in their ideals they feel the disappointment most acutely. Do not pitch your standard too high then you are less likely to have your ideal shattered. Try to remember that friends will never disappoint us if we observe two simple rules (1) to find out what they are, (2) to expect them to be just that.

APPAM GOES TO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, March 6.—The British steamer Appam brought into Hampton Roads over a year ago as a German prize, was held to be the property of her British owners by the supreme court in a decision today.

Justice Day in handing down the opinion said the Germans had followed neither of the normal courses; to take her to German port, or to the nearest neutral port, but had taken her thousands of miles across the seas in order to place her in an American port.
